First election of Speaker in over 5 decades today

Trinamool yet to take call on supporting INDIA candidate K Suresh

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

WITH Parliament set to see an unprecedented election for the post of Lok Sabha Speaker on Wednesday, the Trinamool Congress (TMC), an ally of the INDIA bloc, is keeping the Opposition on the edge as the party is yet to reach a final decision on the matter.

While the BJP-led NDA nominated third time MP Om Birla for the Speaker's post for the second consecutive term, the Opposition forced an election by nominating the eight-time MP from Kerala, Kodikunnil Suresh, as its candidate after the talks between both sides failed to reach a consensus.

At a late evening INDIA bloc meeting, TMC leaders said they will co-operate with the Opposition on the Speaker's election. However, the final call will be taken on Wednesday.

The meeting was attended by several top leaders of the INDIA bloc, including Congress leaders Mallikarjun Kharge, Rahul Gandhi, TMC's Derek O'Brien, Kalyan Banerjee, RSP's N K Premachandran and CPM's K Radhakrishnan. A senior Opposition leader who attended the meeting told this paper, "Though other parties, including the Congress, have issued a whip to their MPs for the election, the TMC said that they will convey their decision tomorrow after more consultations. But they have assured that they will co-operate with the Opposition in the Speaker election," he said.

Candidates for Speaker's post Om Birla (BJP) and Kodikunnil Suresh (INDIA)

OPPN DEMANDED DY SPEAKER POST

The last election for Speaker was in 1976. The INDIA bloc made a last minute decision to go for the contest after senior BJP leaders refused to accept its precondition that the Opposition must be offered the post of Deputy Speaker in lieu of supporting Birla

Earlier, TMC's Abhishek Banerjee complained that the Congress unilaterally decided to put up K Suresh as the INDIA bloc's candidate for the post without consultation.

A brief interaction involving Congress leader K C Venugopal and DMK's T R Baalu and Union ministers Rajnath Singh, Amit Shah and J P Nadda, at Singh's office in Parliament to evolve a consensus ended in acrimony as both sides stuck to their positions.

Speaking to reporters outside Parliament, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said, "Union minister Rajnath last evening said that he will call back our president Mallikarjun Kharge on our demand on the Deputy Speaker post. However, Rajnath ji has not returned the call. PM Modi says that there should be constructive cooperation and then our leader is being insulted. So their intention is clear," he said. Later, Venugopal accused the government of not following the "convention" of an opposition candidate for the Deputy Speaker's position.

With 50ml more, Nandini milk costlier by ₹2

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A FEW days after the state government hiked the fuel prices by Rs 3 per litre and slashed the rates of high-end liquor, the milk price has been increased by Rs 2 per packet, but with a little more quantity. The new milk price will come into effect on Wednesday (June 26).

As per Karnataka Milk Federation's (KMF) order, there will be 50ml more in each Nandini milk packet -- half litre and one litre. The price has been hiked for each packet by Rs 2, irrespective of the type of milk.

"The price has not been hiked, it has been revised. As we have increased the quantity of milk in each packet, an additional amount is being charged. This is a temporary measure. Once the milk procurement reduces, the quantity of milk in each packet will be revised and so will the rates. We have increased the quantity and the cost as milk procurement from farmers has increased and that has to be adjusted and paid back to them," KMF Chairman Bheema Naik told TNIE.

However, this has not gone well with leaders of Opposition parties and citizens. They have accused the state government of doing this to fund the guarantee schemes.

But KMF officials defended the decision, saying the extra money earned will not go to the state exchequer. "We are not paying anything to the exchequer. The money earned will be passed on to farmers. P4

One more sexual assault case against Suraj

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE @Hassan

ONE more alleged homosexual assault case was registered against MLC Dr Suraj Revanna at the Holenarasipur Rural police station on Tuesday evening.

The police said Suraj allegedly assaulted the victim during the Covid pandemic at his farm House in Gannikada. The victim did not file a police complaint as he was threatened with murder, the police said. On Suraj's insistence, he had filed a false complaint against the first victim from Arkalgud taluk, saying that the latter had tried to extort Rs 5 crore from the MLC, the police said.

Earlier in the day the Konanur police had filed a case of misappropriation of funds from a private finance company against the victim. He had gone missing after filing the complaint against the Arkalgud victim.

CBI's turn to go after Kejri to keep him in jail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

COMPOUNDING troubles for jailed Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) is all set to produce him before a trial court on Wednesday, which could result in his arrest by the agency, sources said on Tuesday.

The fresh development comes hours before the Supreme Court is scheduled to hear Kejriwal's plea challenging the Delhi High Court decision to stay the bail granted to him by a lower court.

Sources said the CBI had questioned Kejriwal on Monday in Tihar Jail and recorded his statement on the alleged irregularities in the Delhi liquor policy. On Tuesday, the central agency moved an application before a special court seeking a production warrant for Kejriwal, which was granted.

The CBI will produce Kejriwal before the trial court at 10 am on Wednesday, ahead of the Supreme Court hearing. Sources said that since Kejriwal is already in judicial custody in connection with a money laundering case by the Enforcement Directorate, his arrest by CBI can take place before a court.

If the CBI arrests Kejriwal and gets his custody, it is unlikely that the Delhi CM will be able to walk out of Tihar Jail on Wednesday even if the SC overturns the Delhi HC's stay on his bail.

Reacting to the development, the Aam Aadmi Party accused the CBI of "conspiring to register a fake case" against their leader. AAP leader Sanjay Singh said the Centre is conspiring to foist false cases against Kejriwal in a bid to keep him in jail.

Rahul named Leader of Oppn in LS

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

ON the eve of the election to the post of Lok Sabha Speaker, the Congress on Tuesday named Rahul Gandhi as the Leader of the Opposition (LoP) in the Lok Sabha. The announcement came after a late evening meeting of floor leaders of the Opposition parties.

Congress general secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal told the media, "CPP chairperson Sonia Gandhi wrote a letter to pro-tem Speaker Bhartruhari Mahtab, informing the decision of appointment of Rahul Gandhi as the Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha." Rahul was sworn in as a member of the Lok Sabha on Tuesday. He has been an MP for five terms and now represents UP's Rae Bareli in the Lower House. Early this month, the Congress Working Committee had unanimously passed a resolution requesting Rahul to take up the post of the LoP.

DENGUE FATALITY RATE UNDER CONTROL, SAYS CM

Total cases stand at 5,374 in state and 1,230 in BBMP limits

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

"THE case fatality rate in dengue should not exceed 0.5 per cent, as per the limit set by the Union government. Karnataka's case fatality rate is far less than the limit, and stands at 0.09 per cent," Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said here on Tuesday.

Bengaluru, Chikkamagaluru, Mysuru, Haveri, Shivamogga, Chitradurga and Dakshina Kannada districts have reported a high number of cases, taking the total number of dengue cases to 5,374, and five deaths. As many as 1,230 dengue cases have been reported from Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) limits, he added.

The CM was speaking after chairing a high-level meeting with Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao and top officials from the state health department.

"The government has taken dengue cases seriously, and will take necessary steps to control the outbreak," he said, directing officers to ensure the availability of all treatment facilities and medicines in government hospitals.

He instructed the BBMP, urban development and health department officials to jointly review the dengue situation in the state.

He called upon urban local bodies to take necessary steps for sanitation and avoid water stagnation. He appealed to the public to cooperate with the authorities to control the disease by destroying the aedis aegypti larvae at source. It was also decided to start a special mission for intense source reduction activity every Friday.

Earlier, Dinesh Gundu Rao held a meeting with health officials and directed them to increase dengue testing, and identify it in the preliminary stage itself.

He said there was no need to panic, but to be cautious. He called upon officials to ensure there is enough medicines for dengue in all government hospitals, and directed them to take the help of ASHA workers, nursing students, NSS students and other NGOs to conduct a door-to-door dengue survey and create awareness.

HC: Publish GO on both land notification, denotification

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed the state government to issue a circular at the earliest to ensure that all government orders that denotify lands from acquisition and subsequent government orders that rescind such denotifications are published in the official gazette and made part of the property records.

A division bench of Justice Krishna S Dixit and Justice Ramachandra D Huddar passed the order while allowing the appeal filed by the Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) questioning the order of a single judge. The court directed the Registry of the high court to send a copy of the judgment immediately to the chief secretary of the state government for issuance of a circular at the earliest.

The land in question was ordered to be left out of the acquisition process through a notification dated September 29, 2010, and was published in the gazette. Subsequently, the government, through an order dated October 19, 2010, rescinded the denotification.

This rescinding order was not published in the gazette for reasons best known to the government although such a course gave rise to certain speculations, which led to the dispute. Therefore, the court passed the order to publish both the notification and denotification of lands in the gazette.

From hearing loss to paralysis, docs flag viral infections wreaking havoc

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

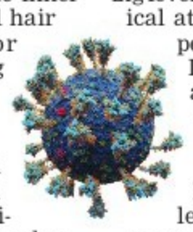
VIRAL infections typically characterised by symptoms such as fever, nausea, and body aches, can escalate to severe consequences, including hearing loss, respiratory infections, vision impairment, and nerve damage that may result in paralysis.

The recent case of Bollywood playback singer Alka Yagnik, who has been diagnosed with rare sensorineural hearing loss after a viral infection, underscores the potential seriousness of viral illnesses and the importance of timely medical attention.

Health experts emphasise the critical importance of addressing viral infections promptly, as neglect can lead to severe complications. "Viruses infiltrate cells, disrupting their normal function, potentially causing significant cellular damage, particularly in vital organs," the experts say.

Highlighting the lasting complications viruses can induce, including hearing loss and paralysis, which can stem from various viral infections, Dr Sheela Chakravarthy, Director of Internal Medicine at Fortis Hospital, said that a prominent example is Ramsay Hunt syndrome, triggered by the reactivation of the varicella-zoster virus, known for causing chickenpox and shingles that manifests with facial paralysis and hearing loss in the affected ear.

Dr Sheela explained that viruses can also target nerves directly, leading to paralysis in different parts of the body, while some invade the inner ear, damaging critical hair cells responsible for hearing and resulting in total hearing loss.



Acute Flaccid Myelitis (AFM), akin to polio, affects the spinal cord and causes rapid weakness in limbs, typically starting in an arm or leg, she highlighted, and also mentioned about the delicate hair cells in the inner ear that are vulnerable to viral damage, as well as exposure to loud noises, which can precipitate sudden and noticeable hearing loss.

Dr Brunda MS, Consultant in Internal Medicine at Aster CMI Hospital, highlighted that viral infections manifest diverse symptoms depending on the virus involved. "Some viruses, like Varicella and Epstein-Barr, can provoke neurological complications if untreated, while Hepatitis B and C may induce severe liver damage if not managed," she said.

Even seemingly mild viral infections, such as those causing fever or cold, warrant medical attention if symptoms persist 'beyond a week' Dr Brunda said and added that viruses can trigger an overactive immune response, potentially damaging healthy tissues and leading to results as severe as organ failure.

She further highlighted vulnerable demographics and said that children, pregnant women, older adults, and individuals with weak immunity face heightened risks of complications from viral infections due to their less robust immune defences.

FIR against owners for letting cattle into lakes

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

DESPITE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) issuing warnings to cattle owners not to allow their animals inside lakes, many continue to allow their cattle to graze in wetlands and along lake boundaries. Palike lake division officials say they will now file an FIR against such owners.

Bhuprada, Executive Engineer (Lakes), Mahadevapura zone, said in Vignan Nagar ward, miscreants damaged a fence to gain illegal entry into Vibhutipura Lake at night, and now, cattle owners are taking advantage of it and letting dozens of cattle into the lake in the morning hours.

"We had taken a cattle owner named Ravi to the police station. Instead of filing an FIR, HAL police warned him and let him off. Within a few days, he was back to his old habit of sending cattle into the lake," the official said.

We will now demand that police register an FIR if a complaint is filed about unruly cattle owners allowing their animals into lakes, the official said. To end the menace, BBMP is constructing a concrete wall on the Vibhuthipura side and will add a steel fence near Vikas Park side of the lake, she added.

Walkers and activists say that owners who cannot maintain cows, find it easy to send their animals into the lake from morning to night. "The owners are only interested in milking the cow but don't invest in feed and other needs, so they allow animals to graze in wetlands. After a few warnings, BBMP should mercilessly catch and release such animals in government gaushalas to bring fear among such owners," said an activist.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

26TH June : There's an astonishing range of planetary activities happening up there in the sky. Now there's a recipe for muddle if ever I saw one. But I don't think that anything is inevitable so there's no need to give way to confusion. So, if we all make an effort to think clearly, we should get through unscathed.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You must come back to the fact that Mars' current aspects are not the easiest from your point of view. However, if you've been in your present rut for far too long, expect to be forced to adapt to the future and shaken out of your complacent attitudes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There's little to be gained from pursuing private vendettas or doubting other people's sincerity. Look after your own health and make your peace of mind the number one priority. Leave partners to battle it out. After all, their problems are not necessarily the same as yours!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The implications of today's financial transactions could be with you for a very long time. You may have difficulty weathering the storm, and you must believe that the eventual outcome will be worth every ounce of effort. In love, remember one thing - it's OK to be a dreamer.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
This is hardly the smoothest of days socially, although if you're in a mood for danger you might enjoy the frayed nerves which seem to be keeping partners on the go. Make time to pursue your creative interests, perhaps picking up on an ambition you've ignored for far too long.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Frankly, it's not the best day to start sorting your life out, yet this could be just what is needed. Like your close partners, you must now adopt a radically different approach if you are to start afresh. In the meantime, clear up those last remaining overdue chores.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
If partners are suffering business anxieties, the chances are that you can come up with the right answers. This is not a day to prevaricate and waste time. So get on with it and go straight to the heart of the problem. And don't panic if you hit a delay - it's to be expected.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You're on a positive path. It's inevitable that sooner or later you were bound to have to face up to emotional complications. Keep your act together and everything should work out fine. If you're tempted to sacrifice all for a relationship, make sure you've got a get-out clause.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Current planetary aspects are bringing tensions to the surface, but somehow you seem set to gain from the general mood. Turn your attention to educational, travel and legal questions. In other words, begin to tackle far-sighted issues, the ones which are going to carry your life forward one major step.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
If you are aiming for a confrontation to clear the air, the moment may have passed. However, there are still questions to be asked and answered. This is not time to indulge in financial risks, at least not until you've made absolutely sure that you can't lose!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The calming influence of Venus, planet of love and harmony, is still with you, though not for much longer. At least you may be spared the worst of the arguments that seem to be in the air. It's been a busy year so far, and you'll soon be able to put your feet up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You're not always that good at controlling your feelings, but one quality that will now come in to play is your skill in understanding human motivations. Take your time and move forward with sensitivity, for it will be all too easy to forget your obligations to others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
When passion is in the air you can never be sure which way it's going to turn. It may now be best to quietly take responsibility for your own affairs and avoid those issues which are likely to come between you and a close partner. Good relationships are worth more than anything.

MORE BUSES TO PLY IN PEAK HRS FOR STUDENTS

KSRTC has identified routes with major complaints, to induct 500 buses, add 2,000 crew in coming months

AKNISREE KARTHIK
@Bengaluru

FACING flak following reports of students struggling to get buses to reach their schools and colleges, the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) has added more buses on routes with high student demand.

The transport utility came under severe criticism after videos went viral of students running behind as well as footboarding crowded buses while risking their lives.

As students are provided bus passes at concessional rates, people and opposition political parties criticised the bus corporation for not providing stops at places where students board buses in large numbers, especially after the launch of the Shakti scheme that offers free travel to women in ordinary buses. Some students even hit the streets in Ramanagara and Mandya to protest against such issues.

Stressing that the bus corporation has taken measures to address the problems faced by students, KSRTC Managing Director Anbu Kumar said, "Last year, students faced problems in getting buses, especially in regions like Tumakuru, Ramanagara and Chikkaballapur."

Following this, KSRTC identified routes with major complaints from students. "We immediately started addressing them one by one and increased the number of buses operating on such routes, especially during the peak hour when the number of students are high," Kumar said.

"As of now, we have addressed the bus shortage issue wherever we received the majority of complaints. In the coming months, we will induct more than 500 buses and add 2,000 more crew. Students will not have any trouble from this year as we will add more buses as and when they are delivered to us," he said.

The bus corporation is not claiming to have addressed all the problems faced by students, Kumar said and added, "With the addition of new colleges and schools, coaching hubs, training institutes, hostels, residential layouts and other infrastructure, there arises a demand for new buses to such routes. We will address them too, based on the demand."

IISc scientists come up with new culture system to track TB

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

RESEARCHERS at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) have designed a novel 3D hydrogel culture system that mimics the mammalian lung environment, which can track and study how tuberculosis bacteria infect lung cells and test the efficacy of therapeutics used to treat TB.

Scientists opined that the current culture models used to study TB infection have several limitations.

They are typically culture plates that are monolayered and do not accurately mimic the 3D microenvironment inside the lungs. The microenvironment experienced by the cells in such 2D culture is vastly different from the actual extracellular matrix (ECM) surrounding lung tissue.

"In a tissue culture plate, there are no ECM molecules, and even if a very thin layer of ECM is coated on these plates, the lung cells 'see' the ECM on one side at best," said Vishal Gupta, PhD student at the Department of Bioengineering (BE) and first author.

The team has now designed a 3D hydrogel culture made of collagen, a key molecule present in the ECM of lung cells. Collagen is soluble in water at a slightly acidic pH. As the pH is increased, the collagen forms fibrils which cross-link to form a gel-like 3D structure.

At the time of gelling, the researchers added human macrophages – immune cells involved in fighting infection – along with TB. This entrapped both the macrophages and the bacteria in the collagen and allowed the researchers to track how the bacteria were infected.

The team tracked how the infection progressed over 2-3 weeks. The cells stayed viable for three weeks in the hydrogel – current cultures are only able to sustain them for 4-7 days.

The team also tested the effect of pyrazinamide – one of the four most common drugs given to TB patients. They found that even a small amount (10 µg/ml) of the drug was quite effective in clearing out infection in the hydrogel culture.

Previously, scientists have had to use large doses of the drug – much higher compared to concentrations achieved in patients – to show that it is effective in tissue culture.

"Nobody has shown that this drug works in clinically relevant doses in any culture systems. Our setup reinforces the fact that the 3D hydrogel mimics the infection better," explained Rachit Agarwal, Associate Professor at BE.

Researchers plan to mimic clusters of infected white blood cells to understand why some people have latent TB, while others show aggressive symptoms.

Darshan fan held for threat to producer

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 31-year-old fan of actor Darshan was arrested in connection with a threat issued to film producer Umapathy Gowda. Basaveshwara Nagar police arrested him on Monday. The video of him abusing and threatening the film producer went viral on social media.

The accused has been identified as Chethan. Umapathy Gowda, who had produced Kannada movie 'Roberrt' with Darshan in the lead role, filed a complaint on June 23, based on which police arrested the accused.

In the alleged video, Chethan had made derogatory remarks against Gowda and abused him, stating that he had made money out of the movie by using Darshan's image. Police made Chethan record a video apologising to Umapathy Gowda and actor Pratham, as the accused had also targeted the latter in one of his videos on social media.

Following Darshan's arrest, his die-hard fans have been posting comments and videos against those who speak against their favourite actor.

Int'l roadshows: State may get $6.2 bn in investments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOLLOWING roadshows in several cities in the United States, the United Kingdom (UK), France and Germany to attract investments, Karnataka is expecting investments of 6.2 billion US dollars and creation of 35,000-40,000 jobs.

In mid-June, officials from the Department of Electronics, IT and BT had visited several cities to showcase Karnataka start-ups, promote international technology and foster innovative collaborations with different countries through the roadshows.

Addressing the media here on Tuesday, IT and BT Minister Priyank Kharge said an investment of 6.2 billion dollars is excepted, and the proposed Global Capacity Centres (GCCs) will also create 35,000-40,000 jobs in the state.

The main objectives of the roadshows were to introduce Karnataka's biotechnology and electronics ecosystem, highlight its infrastructure and policy landscape to US companies and associations.

KEONICS chairman Sharath Bacchegowda said, "We are expecting investments in a big way from Europe and the US in biotech, semiconductor, AI and various fields related to medical sciences."

CM DEFENDS MILK PRICE HIKE, SAYS MOVE WILL HELP LAKHS OF FARMERS

'Production touches 1cr litres per day; hike proportionate to rise in volume per sachet'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE 500ml Nandini milk packet will now contain 550ml and cost Rs 2 more. It is the state government's method of handling ample milk production, and keeping both dairy farmers and consumers happy.

Defending the increase in both quantity of milk and price, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said that Karnataka's average milk production has reached close to 1 crore litres per day. This decision of Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) will help lakhs of dairy farmers, the CM said.

Siddaramaiah pointed out that good rainfall this year has ensured ample fodder for cattle, due to which milk production has shot up. "KMF made the decision to handle increased production, making it beneficial for both farmers and consumers. It also ensures that surplus milk production is not rejected at collection centres," he added.

Compared to last year, milk production in the state has increased by 15 per cent, from a daily average of 90 lakh litres to 99 lakh litres.

In a press statement, the chief minister said there will be no increase in the price of Nandini milk. Instead, each milk packet will now contain an additional 50ml of milk -- half-litre (500ml) packets will be replaced by 550ml packets, and one-litre (1000ml) packets will contain 1050ml milk. Previously, milk was priced at Rs 42 for 1000ml and Rs 22 for 500ml. Now, the 1050ml packet will be sold for Rs 44, and 550ml packet for Rs 24.

Currently, the maximum amount of milk is being used to produce milk powder. "Around 30lakh litres of milk are used daily to produce 250 tonnes of milk powder to meet existing demand. When our government came to power, the average daily milk collection in the state was around 72 lakh litres. We increased the price by Rs 3 per litre, which was sent directly to farmers, making dairy farming more profitable," he said.

Siddaramaiah, CM

IS THE HIKE TO FUND GUARANTEES: OPPN TO GOVT

The Opposition BJP and JDS hit out at the Congress State Government for increasing the milk prices. They ridiculed asking if the government was using additional money to fund its guarantees. Union Minister and senior JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy questioned the Congress government if the milk price money goes to dairy farmers or the five guarantees. Kumaraswamy, a former CM, said the hike was the gift given by the Congress government on the golden jubilee of the Emergency. State BJP president BY Vijayendra said that soon after the results of the recent Lok Sabha polls were declared, there was a demand from several Congress MLAs to withdraw the guarantees. "Finally, this is how the Congress government is taking revenge on the poor citizens for voting against them. Congress government seems to be in a mad hurry to hike the price of every essential commodity to inflict the maximum pain on voters," he said.

DyCM SAYS IT IS DEMAND BY FARMERS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday defended the hike in milk prices and said it was demand of the state's farmers.

"Prices of fodder have increased. Several milk-producing unions are seeking a hike in milk price. Farmers are also getting less money for milk. Hence, the government has decided to hike milk prices," Shivakumar, who is also state Congress chief, said.

Earlier, Shivakumar countered Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy's statement that the former has done nothing for Channapatna.

Speaking to reporters at Mangalore International Airport before heading to Kukke Shri Subrahmanya Swamy Temple, Shivakumar said, "I entered politics before Kumaraswamy. I have known Channapatna for 10 years more than him.. I belong to Channapatna. How does he know that I have not done anything for Channapatna? I contested against his father (HD Deve Gowda) in 1985. Kumaraswamy entered electoral politics in 1995. As a minister in the past, I worked for the people of Channapatna. Now is the right time to work for them. My brother Suresh is not interested to contest the Channapatna bypoll. As many as 85,000 people have voted for us and we cannot desert them now. People have blessed us with 136 seats in the Assembly.... we need to work for their development."

On the demand for more DyCMs, Shivakumar said the party high command will decide on it.

Regarding his visit to Kukke Shri Subrahmanya Swamy Temple, Shivakumar said that being a Hindu, he desired to visit the temple along with his family. On the formation of Kukke Temple Development Authority, Shivakumar said that he has received the proposal and it would be placed before the Cabinet.

Decision taken after consulting milk unions & stakeholders: KMF official

"AT present, we are spending a lot on converting milk into powder and storing it. This is becoming a dead stock in terms of commodity and cost. So to dispose of the milk procured immediately, it was decided to hike the quantity and charge for the additional quantity. The decision was taken after consulting milk unions and stakeholders on Monday and the announcement was made on Tuesday," an official said.

KMF procures 99 lakh litres of milk daily. On some days, it increases to one crore litres, this is the highest ever in the history of KMF. It makes 260 metric tonnes of milk powder every day at a cost of Rs 230 per kg. But it is sold at Rs 210 per kg. The conversion cost was becoming a burden for the KMF and unions, the official said.

DEALERS MAKE MOOLAH A DAY AHEAD

Despite the decision of the KMF and unions to hike the milk price from Wednesday, many dealers sold it for Rs 2 more on Tuesday. This left many consumers confused and agitated. "I was shocked when the local milk dealer told me to pay Rs 2 more. He told me that the price has been increased. But I was confused as the decision was not announced anywhere. I had to pay Rs 2 more," said Lakshmi L, a homemaker. She was not the only one. Many people said they were asked to pay Rs 2 more for the same quantity (500ml) on Tuesday. Reacting to this, Jagdeesh said he will look into the matter. The revised price will come into effect on Wednesday, he added.

"We have been procuring 15% more milk since last year. But now because of the monsoon, milk procurement has further increased. Payments to farmers should not be affected. So this decision was taken. Despite the hike, the price of Nandini milk in Karnataka is low when compared to other states," said KMF Managing Director MK Jagadeesh.

He said after this revision, a litre of Nandini milk will cost Rs 44. In Kerala, Milma milk costs Rs 52 per litre. In Delhi, a litre of Mother Dairy milk costs Rs 54. In Gujarat, a litre of Amul milk costs Rs 56 and in Maharashtra Rs 56. In Andhra Pradesh, Vijaya milk costs Rs 58 per litre.

Zameer's words on Sagar's victory land him in trouble

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOUSING Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan's not-up-to-the-mark communication skills landed him in a fresh controversy on Tuesday.

Zameer's opponents slammed him for saying Congress' Bidar candidate Sagar Khandre, son of Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre, won the Lok Sabha elections with Muslim support and he should bow before them. He later tried to control the damage, saying, "Sagar Khandre got six lakh votes and there are two lakh Muslim voters in Bidar. Obviously, he cannot win with just 2 lakh votes. What is wrong with my statement?"

But the damage had already been done and Zameer and his team spent the entire day answering queries from the media and insisting that he was quoted out of context. But none from his team or Zameer had the courage to come before the media.

Some Congress leaders said, "Every time Zameer rises to speak, Congress loses ten votes." Some others said his Kannada-speaking abilities are extremely poor and he should be given lessons in speaking in public in Kannada, to avoid further embarrassment to the party.

Sources said Zameer had meant to say that Muslims had voted for Congress and Congress' elected representatives should serve them. But how he said it ended up offending the sensibilities of many, they added.

Eshwar Khandre told TNIE, "What Zameer has said is his own opinion and it is not the reflection of what the party thinks. We will serve all voters, no matter who they are and what community they belong to. It is our duty to serve everyone."

Well-known writer Devanur Mahadeva in an article spoke bitterly about the remarks of Deputy Chief Minister and KPCC president DK Shivakumar and the Congress media department. He took them to task for calling litterateurs supporters of a political party.

With this, Congress appears to have lost the battle of communication on many fronts, not just on the issue of Zameer's statements.

DKS ready to nail Siddu loyalists for Congress' dismal show in LS polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH Chief Minister Siddaramaiah loyalists and ministers hailing from minority, Backward Classes and Dalit communities allegedly trying to snub DyCM and KPCC president DK Shivakumar for failing to fetch Vokkaliga votes for Congress in the Lok Sabha elections, the latter has devised a strategy to counter them, according sources.

He has prepared a report based on a survey by a private agency. According to the report, even voters from Backward Classes and Dalit communities did not back the Congress in the LS polls as they did in the Assembly elections last year, especially in the Old Mysore region.

Shivakumar may place the report before the party high command to nail Siddaramaiah loyalists. He wants to drive home a point that these communities are no more with the Congress. Even Kurubas, who backed the Congress as Siddaramaiah hails from that community in the Assembly polls, did not support the party wholeheartedly in the Lok Sabha elections. The party managed to win only Hassan and Chamarajanagar LS seats in the region.

Meanwhile, a delegation of about 15 Veerashaiva-Lingayat legislators led by former minister Vinay Kulakarni is likely to meet the party high command in New Delhi soon and lodge a complaint against Siddaramaiah loyalists for not "treating" them properly. These legislators may complain against Urban Development and Town Planning Minister Byrati Suresh and Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna, who are considered close to the chief minister, the sources said.

NEET: Dr G questions Modi on his 'silence'

ENS @ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara, who also runs a chunk of engineering and medical colleges, here on Tuesday took a dig at Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his silence on the NEET irregularities even as Congress president Mallikarjuna Kharge has raised the issue. He alleged that the future of the students across the country has been jeopardised with Modi ignoring the issue.

"Shouldn't some final decision be made on re-examination... shouldn't the guilty be punished? All this should be decided responsibly by the PM or the minister concerned. Admissions to engineering and medical colleges should have started by now. But the children are confused... what about their future?" he said.

On BJP cornering the Congress over the Emergency, Dr Parameshwara suggested the saffron party to address the burning issues of the people of the country.

Dr Parameshwara said that since he has worked as KPCC president for eight-and-a-half-years, he will handle the task given by the CM of selecting the members to boards and corporations.

On the murder case of young woman, Prabuddha, being handed over to the CID, he said, "Since the investigation so far has not brought comfort to the parents, they had requested for a CID probe."

3-day Kannada Sahitya Sammelana in Mandya from December 20

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MANDYA will host the 87th Akhila Bharatha Kannada Sahitya Sammelana for three days from December 20. The literary meet was earlier scheduled to be held in December 2023.

The State Government, however, deferred the meet several times for various reasons, including drought and later the Model Code of Conduct for the Lok Sabha elections.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday convened a meeting with Mandya District Minister N Chaluvarayaswamy, members from Kannada Sahitya Parishath, legislators and others and decided to hold the annual meeting in December this year.

The last Sahithya Sammelana was held in Gadag in January 2023 where they decided to hold the next Sammelana in December 2023 at Mandya. However, it was pushed to Februaru 2024 and then to June 2024.

"We have now decided to hold the meet in December this year as we are expecting more people from outside Karnataka and India. We are requesting Kannadigas residing across the globe to take part in the three-day sammelana," Siddaramaiah said.

Mandya has hosted the meet twice in the past (1974 and 1994).

Prajwal Revanna back in SIT custody in case No 4

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE special court dealing with cases related to MLAs and MPs on Tuesday remanded former Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna in SIT custody till June 29 in another case.

An FIR was registered against him at a CEN police station in the city based on a complaint by one of Prajwal's victims accusing him of recording his alleged sexual act with her. This is the fourth FIR against Prajwal.

Former BJP MLA Preetham Gowda has been named accused No. 4 in the case for allegedly circulating the explicit pictures and videos of Prajwal. Two more people have been named in the FIR. The SIT will soon issue a notice to Preetham.

Prajwal, who appeared before the judge through a video conference from jail, was informed about the complaint. The SIT officials brought Prajwal from Bengaluru Central Prison to the CID office in the afternoon.

The other accused are Kiran and Sharath. They have been accused of sharing the explicit photographs and videos.

In her complaint, the victim alleged that recording of the sexual act by Prajwal and sharing pictures and videos by other accused not only caused embarrassment, but also tarnished the image of her family in Hassan.

Meanwhile, Preetham said that he was not aware of the FIR against him and added that he will react after seeing it.

The first FIR against Prajwal and his father HD Revanna was registered on May 28, the second against Prajwal on May 1 and the third on May 8.

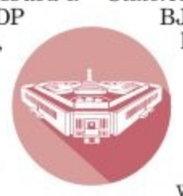
SPEAKER POLL: TDP BACKS NDA; BJP SEEKS SUPPORT OF YSRC

TDP leaders clarify that they are not aspiring for Lok Sabha Deputy Speaker's post

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

THE Telugu Desam Party (TDP), which is part of the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government at the Centre, extended its support to the nomination of BJP senior MP Om Birla for the Lok Sabha Speaker post.

The Telugu Desam Parliamentary Party (TDPP) Whip and Amalapuram MP Ganti Harish Madhur Balayogi has issued a three-line whip to all TDP Members of Parliament, mandating their presence and vote for the NDA candidate, Om Birla, in the upcoming Speaker elections scheduled for June 26.



All members are requested to gather in the Parliamentary office, Room Number 111-B, by 10:30 AM, the Whip read. Prior to that, the MPs will meet under the leadership of TDPP leader Lavu Sri Krishna Devarayulu and will be sensitised on exercising their franchise in the Lok Sabha Speaker election.

Meanwhile, the TDP has reportedly invited the BJP and Jana Sena Party MPs from the State for the meeting. The TDP leaders also clarified that they are not aspiring for the Lok Sabha Deputy Speaker post.

Though reports emerged that the TDP, which is the largest party next to the BJP in the NDA with a strength of 16 MPs in the Lok Sabha, is vying to get the Lok Sabha Speaker post, leaders of the yellow party made it clear that they have not asked the BJP leadership for the post.

In a related development, the BJP reportedly sought support from the YSRC, which has four MPs in the Lok Sabha. The NDA has trounced the YSRC in the recent elections relegating the party to just four MP and 11 Assembly seats in Andhra Pradesh State. According to sources, the BJP national leadership has sought the support of the YSRC for its Lok Sabha Speaker candidate Om Birla. The YSRC, which had earlier announced that it would extend issue based support to the NDA, reportedly agreed.

Of the 25 MP seats in the State, the NDA won 21 and of them the TDP clinched 16 followed by three by BJP and two by Jana Sena Party.

It may be recalled that the YSRC has earlier said that the NDA has to see it on par with the TDP and can not ignore it. The YSRC's logic is that though the TDP has 16 MPs, it does not have a single member in the Rajya Sabha and the 11 members of the YSRC will be crucial for the NDA to pass Bills.

Though YSRC MPs PV Midhun Reddy or V Vijayasai Reddy were not available for a comment.

TAMIL Nadu minister Udhayanidhi Stalin, who appeared before a Special Court in Bengaluru on Tuesday in connection with a case filed against him for his alleged controversial remarks on Sanatana Dharma, was granted bail.

Udhayanidhi, son of Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin, appeared before the 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (ACMM) court, also the special court for trial of cases against sitting and former MLAs/MPs, after he was issued a summon. Udhayanidhi is the Minister for Sports and Youth Welfare in the Tamil Nadu.

The advocate representing Udhayanidhi argued that seven cases were registered against his client across the country and an appeal was pending before the Supreme Court praying to club all the cases. Meanwhile, a bail petition was also moved before the court.

The bail conditions included furnishing surety of Rs 1 lakh. The case has been adjourned to August 8.

The court had issued a summon against Stalin based on a private complaint filed by social activist Paramesh, who had filed a complaint against four persons, including the DMK leader, who missed the first notice.

BANNED outfit Popular Front of India (PFI) had been on a mission to establish Islamic rule in India by 2047, the National Investigation Agency (NIA) has revealed. The NIA said the murder of RSS leader Sreenivasan in Palakkad in 2022 was committed as part of PFI's agenda – "India 2047".

"The accused committed a terrorist act of the murder of Sreenivasan on April 16, 2022, as a part of a larger conspiracy hatched by PFI and its office bearers and cadre to enact their India 2047 agenda of establishing Islamic rule in India," the NIA said in the report it submitted to the Kerala High Court while opposing the bail pleas of PFI/SDPI workers accused in the RSS leader's murder.

The NIA also recovered a voice clip substantiating the mission from the phone of Muhammed Mubarak, the 15th accused in the murder case.

CWMA TO ASSESS SITUATION IN KARNATAKA

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Cauvery Water Management Authority asked both states Karnataka and Tamil Nadu to conserve water in all the reservoirs for drinking water purpose and environmental flows for sustenance of flora and fauna. Meanwhile, a team to visit the Karnataka to check and review the hydrological situation in the Cauvery basin.

At the 31st meeting of CWMA and Ministry of Jalshakti officials heard the submissions from Karnataka and Tamil Nadu governments against the order of the 97th CWRC meeting held on June 14.

Karnataka has made a submission that there is 70% deficit in its four major reservoirs so far. So it would be difficult to comply with any order. The cumulative inflow into four reservoirs of Karnataka from June 1 to June 24 is 7.307 TMC against the past 30 years average inflow in the same period is 24.448 TMC.

Karnataka has to ensure cumulative realisation at interstate point Biligundlu for the month of June of 9.19 TMC i.e. about 3550 cusecs, in a normal year, as per the final award of the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal (CWDT), as modified by the Supreme Court.

So far, according to officials, Biligundlu has received less than 2 TMC as against 5.367 as on June 24.

However, Tamil Nadu has demanded that Karnataka has to be directed to ensure 5.367 TMC deficit flows at Biligundlu as on June 24 & also to ensure the flows for the remaining period of June 2024 and 31.24 TMC for July 2024 as per the schedule prescribed by the CWDT as modified by the SC.

The Authority has apparently decided to appoint a team to check and review the hydrological situation in the next meeting schedule on July 26, next month. After reviewing the reservoir situation in Karnataka, order will be passed.

"It is too early to take any call" Saumitra Kumar Haldar, Chairman, CWMA told this newspaper. "In the window of 150 days of monsoon in the Cauvery basin, there are only 12 days of rainfall. It will take time to reach the saturation level of different rivers and reservoirs because of last year's distress situations," he added.

BUDGET MUST ADDRESS RURAL DISTRESS, HIGH FOOD INFLATION

AS it nears the presentation of its first budget in about a month, the new Union government must lend an ear to the mounting rural distress and continuing high food prices plaguing the economy. Rural voters have made it amply clear they are not happy with the state of the farm sector. The BJP-led NDA's seat count in rural constituencies went down by 44, while the INDIA bloc gained 77 seats at the recent hustings. The distress is evident in the sluggish consumption figures and has been underlined by consumer goods companies. Rural consumption declined for six quarters from the beginning of 2021 before turning positive at the start of 2023, according to NielsenIQ data.

Higher fuel and food prices have driven up inflation in rural markets more than in urban areas over the last 18 months. Agricultural production, which grew steadily during 2021-23, has tapered to just 1.4 percent in 2023-24. The last two quarters' growth has slumped below 1 percent due to unseasonal rains and damaged crops. These trends show there is a sharp fall in rural earnings over the last two years and a consequent erosion in purchasing power. Among the first steps the government must take is easing food inflation, which is creating havoc among millions of families struggling on tight budgets. Basic vegetables and pulses, as well as onions and potatoes—the country's staple diet—have gone out of reach for many.

The immediate form of intervention, via the budget and otherwise, would be to allocate more resources to build supply lines and beef up distribution so that optimal supplies cool prices. The longer and bigger battle, however, is against climate change that is causing unseasonal rains and long droughts, and is resulting in destroyed crops. This involves more scientific agricultural methods and a greater investment in R&D—some economists have suggested an outlay of 1 percent of the farm sector's output—so that more resilient and diverse crops are sown. Providing relief by raising the subsidy on costly inputs such as fertilisers would also be welcome. Above all, a lasting solution to the government's narrow interpretation of minimum support prices needs to be found. The demand has stirred thousands of farmers in recent days in Punjab and the North. Suppressing these movements would not be the answer.

INNER-PARTY CRITICISM CAN HELP CPM RECOVER

CRITICAL voices within the CPI(M) in Kerala are growing bolder. It is a welcome sign for a party that is trying to chart a way forward after the rout in the parliamentary elections that underscored a potentially debilitating erosion of support. While the party publicly admitted only to failing to gauge the people's sentiments, what transpired in the recent meeting of its state committee underlined a serious introspection and pointed towards a much-needed course correction. Several members are said to have accused Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan's style of functioning and his government's lapses. That not all in the CPI(M) were happy with the government's performance or happenings in the party was known; but it is only now that some have gathered the courage to speak out. It's a sign that Vijayan's long-standing grip over the party could be weakening and inner-party democracy is getting a chance.

The home (handled by the CM himself) and finance departments were singled out for admonition. Some members were surprisingly direct in their attack of the CM, pointing out his body language and hostile disposition, and even listed out instances that contributed to his "arrogant" image. Some sought to bring out the contrast between the first and second Pinarayi cabinets, emphasising how his first term had a ministry packed with experience and efficiency. "One chief minister and 19 shadows" is how one of them described the present cabinet. LDF's apparent minority appeasement attempts and corruption allegations were also loudly talked about.

Dissent can prompt correction and lead to more effective administration. But for the party to take effective corrective steps, it must admit to mistakes that go far beyond merely miscalculating the situation. The performance of the second Pinarayi government has been uninspiring, to say the least. The CM's image has taken a severe beating and has become a burden for the party. The anti-government and anti-CPI(M) sentiments are real. The party has yet to admit these. Instead, it has chosen to blame communities and groups for not voting for the party and political rivals for making inroads into its vote bank. This smacks of a defeatist mentality. While the decision to listen to people is constructive, the party must see the re-emergence of inner-party criticism as a positive fallout of the defeat and grab the opportunity to correct lapses.

QUICK TAKE

URGENCY NEEDED ON MANIPUR

MANIPUR'S strife refuses to abate even after 14 months. On Monday, Kuki-Zo groups took out huge rallies in five districts to press their demand for a separate Union territory—different from their earlier call for a territorial council within Manipur. Tensions rose again in Jiribam district after bodies of a Kuki-Zo member and a Meitei were discovered. The governments' efforts are not working. In May, the Supreme Court refused to act against those who had not carried out its order on protecting displaced families' properties. The new Lok Sabha must take up the issues in earnest. And national leaders need to visit the state to assure its anxious communities.

Panchayats don't function as self-governing institutions, as envisaged, but as agents of the Union and state govts. The 16th Finance Commission should give more voice to local govts

THE NEED TO EMPOWER THE THIRD TIER

M A OOMMEN

Former Chairman, Fourth State Finance Commission, Kerala, and Distinguished Fellow, Gulati Institute of Finance and Taxation, Thiruvananthapuram

THE purpose of this article is to drive home the great need to create institutions of self-government and local democracy, as mandated by two constitutional amendments—one for panchayats (73rd) and the other for municipalities (74th)—initiated as part of the momentous decentralisation reforms. I wish to raise some issues relating to the third tier of government and the terms of reference for the 16th Finance Commission.

Given the two amendments as well as the two separate clauses, Articles 280(3)(bb) and 280(3)(c) added for the panchayats and municipalities, it is desirable to do away with the practice of Finance Commissions treating both under the rubric of 'local bodies'. The problems of the two are different. FC-16 would do well to consider them separately.

That even after 30 years we cannot figure out the fiscal size of our panchayats and their place in the Indian public finance in terms of revenue or expenditure is a poor reflection of the progress made. Unlike western theories of federalism that do not recognise the institution of panchayats, the mandate of the decentralisation reforms for a gram sabha, an assembly of voters, to determine development priorities. The task of panchayats to plan for economic development and social justice and innumerable other building blocks of a local democracy are unique and challenging. A critical question to ask is why panchayats do not function as 'institutions of self-government', but work as agents for the Union and state governments. Panchayati Raj Institutions are still not an integral component of the federal fiscal system.

MANOJ PARDIKAR

The basic message of the twin amendments, that the Union Finance Commission and state Finance Commission are organically linked in federal public finance, is not well recognised. The State Finance Commission is a counterpart of the Union Finance Commission created to rationalise the vertical and horizontal imbalances at the sub-state level. Ideally, if the Union Finance Commission takes care of inter-state equity (now that the Planning Commission is abolished, a large part of inter-governmental transfer responsibility falls squarely on it) and the State Finance Commission the intra-state equity, India has the best institutional mechanism to deliver territorial equity and basic services. To be sure, the Union Finance Commission acting in tandem with State Finance Commissions can promote the golden rule of cooperative federalism—that no citizen should be denied basic services, from drinking water to primary education, because of the choice of their residential location.

Continuity and change are important to take the decentralisation reforms forward. FC-11 and FC-12, despite clear mandates to "restructure public finance", did not find it important to include local governments in their scheme of restructuring. The efforts of FC-13 to take the lagging decentralisation reforms forward and link local grants to the divisible pool and introduce a performance grant system, stipulating conditionalities like putting in place an audit system, an ombudsman, and enabling property tax collection were not continued later. Some Union Finance Commissions dismissed State Finance Commission findings as "sketchy" and "patchy" without a close reading of the reports and offering specific suggestions.

Again, the Union and states failed to implement the decentralisation reforms in a coordinated and consistent fashion. Most states did not part with power and authority, and did not exercise the simultaneous transfer of functions, funds and functionaries. Kerala was probably an exception—it led the country in activity mapping to ensure role clarity between the tiers. Kerala also tried to implement the mandatory function of bottom-up planning, and even attempted district plan formulation (Article 243ZD). Kerala's people's plan campaign initiated a multi-stage process of participatory planning, from identifying the felt needs of the people at gram sabha meetings to the final vetting and sanction by the district planning committee. In a way, it demonstrated the feasibility of the reforms.

The Union and states, avowedly committed to fostering the decentralisation process, have promoted parallel institutions that work counter to local governments and local democracy. The Local Area Development Project for each Member of Parliament and its counterpart for MLAs are classic examples. The Union and states have created several agencies that perform tasks meant to be done by local governments. It will be a great service if FC-16 institutes a Functions Fund Matrix study and estimates the parallel flow of resources during the last 30 years. That will reveal the nature and magnitude of the forces that have weakened local governance.

As per its terms of reference, FC-16 has to recommend measures needed to strengthen the consolidated funds of a state to supplement the resources of panchayats and municipalities. By and large, municipalities have strong revenue bases. The revenue-raising capacity of panchayats needs to be enhanced. There are panchayats that do not collect any tax. Although property tax is a universal local tax, states such as Rajasthan, Haryana and Punjab do not collect property tax. The Economic Survey of 2017-18 showed that rural local governments collect less than 10 percent of their total potential for local finance. A dependency regime, artificially created, cannot ensure transparency, accountability and self-government.

A full-fledged financial reporting system including the local governments is still a far cry. If FC-16 could initiate the steps and the Reserve Bank of India could come up with a federal financial reporting system that includes the Union, states and local governments, it would be a great achievement indeed.

NTA 2.0: SPACEMAN'S COUNTDOWN TO LAUNCH COUNTLESS CAREERS

S VAIDHYASUBRAMANIAM

Vice-Chancellor & Tata Sons Chair Professor of management, SASTRA University

AN interview began with the question, "What is your name?" Pat came the reply, "Give me four choices." Welcome to the world of multiple-choice question-based competitive exams, in which you are either trained to eliminate the wrong choices, find the right one in the shortest possible time, or ignore the question fearing negative marks.

The coaching class hubs of Kota, Sikar, Noida and other scattered factory models have collectively created a craze unparalleled in the history of competitive exams in India, which is a gateway to millions of young people wanting to become doctors and engineers. This gateway, unfortunately, has also given way to 'secret keys' in the form of question paper leaks, 'solver gangs' as a service, and other questionable bubbles that burst shockingly to put 2024's college admissions in a quandary.

With the stakes and tempers soaring high, the Union Ministry of Education (MoE) swung into action—it called for a CBI investigation and formed a high-level committee to reform the National Testing Agency (NTA), responsible for conducting massive exams such as the JEE, CUET and NEET. Most importantly, it assured students of a secure and uncompromised future. As it begins to chart the NTA's future, the task before the committee is manifold.

Globally, admission to undergraduate or graduate professional degree programmes is a streamlined affair. In two of the world's largest higher education systems—in the US and China—the role of exam agencies is noteworthy. The College Entrance Examination Board in the US was conceptualised in Columbia University in 1900 with help from the legendary Harvard University president, Charles Eliot. Its pre-World War admission test was initially termed elitist and many post-war reforms made it one of the best managed standardised testing agencies. The 'education anarchy', where each post-secondary institution had its own entrance exam, was demolished by the College Board, which conducted the SAT, AP and BigFuture exams. It outsourced exams such as GRE and TOEFL to another non-profit, Education Testing Services. Started in 1947, this too is one of the largest private non-profit exam agencies. These twin agencies, which are professionally governed with an inclusive leadership, serve the education community through research and advocacy on behalf of students, educators and institutions. Their major initiatives—Equity 2000, Pacesetter and Transition 2000—create innovative assessments that not only align with equitable policy change in governments and institutions around the world, but also ensure diversity at all levels.

Gaokao, the Nationwide Unified Examination for Admissions to General Universities and Colleges in China, is the world's largest assessment for undergraduate admissions. Started in 1954, this is administered by the Chinese education ministry in collaboration with local governments. The entire nation works in unison to ensure the Gaokao is conducted in a student-friendly manner. Year 2024 saw about 13.4 million students cramming for Gaokao to make this spectacle of meritocracy a working reality. Drones swarming in the air, police personnel stationed to prevent untoward incidents, public transport and taxis prioritising test-takers, popular icons sharing wishes—all this can be seen around Gaokao time every June. China Post ensures the safe transport of exam papers with police protection. A satellite system is used to track real-time feedback, ensuring that the integrity of the exam is not compromised and porous vulnerabilities are plugged.

AFP

China's Gaokao is the world's biggest college admission test. The police, postal system, cabbies and icons contribute to keep it safe and student-friendly. Even satellites are used to track real-time feedback. NTA, whose scale of operation is comparable, can learn from such exam systems

Other global examples include the University Clinical Aptitude Test in the UK and the Medical College Admission Test in the US. All of them are conducted on a massive scale and in a student-friendly manner.

The Indian experience calls for certain reforms aligned with global best practises.

The NTA's three big responsibilities—the JEE, NEET and CUET—apart from UGC-NET, CMAT, GPAT, SWAYAM and others, make it one of the world's largest testing agencies with a capacity to mark three lakh tests per day. Year 2023 saw almost 13 million student registrations, reaching close to the gargantuan peak of the Gaokao. The NTA is comparable with global peers like the College Board, Education Testing Services and Gaokao. Such a big role means bigger responsibilities, as the NTA shapes the life and career of millions. Sensing this, the MoE has rightly embarked on an honest exercise to reform the NTA into a vehicle that would transport students to their aspired futures.

There are certain global best practices and local customisations that the high-level committee headed by former ISRO chief K Radhakrishnan will definitely consider. The committee needs to cover the key success factors for entrance exams conducted on the NTA's scale and the speed needed to meet student aspirations. Some of them are related to governance and leadership, technology adoption, disruptive influencers, frequency of attempts, assessment scope, blending school and competitive exam scores for admissions, reducing the coaching factory model to address learning differences and creative testing models.

A quiver full of such triggering concerns awaits the committee's calibrated pathway for students to navigate the entrance exam maze. The future of India lies in the critical and creative capabilities of its youth, and not in the exam-cracking capabilities of tactful humanoids that the existing system has been generating. Chartering into unexplored territories is not going to be new for this committee headed by a spaceman. We hope NTA 2.0 will be a countdown to launch countless students' hopes.

Kosher cannibalism?

Ref: Debating empathy at the dining table (Jun 25). The author is right that pain has to be considered across every living being instead of just humans. If slaughter for food is justifiable per se, and if any animal can be slaughtered with no second thought, then cannibalism can also be kosher. Of course it's a sensitive issue, but don't we need to be different from our primitive carnivorous habits?

Fewer justifications

The author has a great argument in favour of vegetarianism. In the near future, non-vegetarians will have fewer justifications for their food choices and eventually such writers will prove the old adage that the pen is mightier than the sword right.

Title opportunity

The Indian cricket team has reserved a berth at the T20 World Cup semi-finals through their stupendous performance against Australia. With the knockouts on the cards, it would be a great opportunity for the Indian team to put an end to a decade-long ICC title drought.
M Rishidev, Dindigul

Form redemption

Virat Kohli was expected to be the mainstay of the Indian cricket team but the dashing batter has not even shown a semblance of form so far at the World Cup. The team management lacks the gumption to drop him and the likes of Yashashvi Jaiswal and Sanju Samson have been left to twiddle their thumbs. Whether Kohli will redeem himself in the semi-finals is the million-dollar question now.

Personal liberty

A special CBI court in Tamil Nadu denying bail on the grounds that bail can't be granted simply due to prolonged imprisonment is not right. Bail is a right whereas jail is a punishment. Until the accused is proved guilty beyond reasonable doubts, he can't be kept behind bars for so long. This is personal liberty, guaranteed in Article 21 of the Constitution.
Kaliappan Palaniswami, Salem

Cycling exemplar

It was quite interesting to see Appalanaidu, an MP from Andhra Pradesh, cycling his way to parliament for the oath-taking ceremony. If this act was not for mere pomp and show, he would be setting a great example to continue to go to parliament by bicycle everyday in a pollution-ravaged city like Delhi.

June 26, 2024: Golden Jubilee of the Blackest Day

S GURUMURTHY
Editor, Thuglak Tamil Magazine. Chairman, Vivekananda International Foundation Strategic Think Tank

RAHUL Gandhi was waving the Constitution of India as Prime Minister Narendra Modi was taking oath as member of the 18th Lok Sabha on June 24. Rahul was a five-year six-day baby when his grandmother and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi declared Emergency 50 years back on the midnight of June 25/26 to smoke out the Constitution, snuff out all freedom and terrify the nation into submission. Here is a snapshot of what happened on and after that blackest day half a century ago.

1975 June 25/26 midnight

On June 25 midnight, Indira tore and binned the very Constitution her grandson Rahul holds out now, arrested all Opposition, even dissenting leaders in her own party, cut off electricity to newspapers to prevent the people from knowing the news of the arrests. Jayaprakash Narayan, Atal Bihari Vajpayee, Morarji Desai, Charan Singh, Madhu Dandavate, L K Advani and others were arrested under the infamous MISA intended for anti-nationals and anti-socials. On June 26 morning, she called the cabinet whose approval was mandatory to declare Emergency, informed them that Emergency had been imposed and asked them to ratify it. The terrified and corrupt cabinet succumbed. Thus began the horrendous dictatorship of her family for 21 months till March 1977. In that period, she turned the IAS, IPS, IFS officers into a bunch of slaves, arrested and cut advertisement and made the media other than the Indian Express and the Statesman crawl before her, and terrified judges of the Supreme Court into submission. The frightful Emergency continued till Indira was shockingly thrown out of power in an anti-climax of an election, which she had called miscalculating she would win. But alas her party lost and so did she and her son Sanjay Gandhi who ran the autocratic government.

3 generations of illiterates — including Rahul's

How Indira institutionalised dictatorship by perverting the Constitution, subverting Parliament, coercing the media and subordinating the judiciary would have been the subject of study, awareness and caveat for the future of Indian democracy. Also how the darkness of the very Emergency she had imposed made her believe only what her courtiers said and emboldened her to call elections that she lost, too, is a warning for dictators. But that entire and educative story of the Emergency was suppressed from the nation when the very perpetrators of the national crime, the Congress, rode back to power in 1980 and ruled for almost the next two decades. All records, including the Justice Shah Commission report on the Emergency crime against the nation were done away with when Indira Gandhi, decisively defeated by the people in 1977, equally decisively came back to power in 1980. The Shah Commission report was recovered after four decades by DMK leader Era Sezhiyan who fought Emergency in Parliament. He republished it in 2010 with the title, Shah Commission Report — Lost and Regained, and got it released in Chennai by BJP leader L K Advani, who was in jail during the entire 18-month Emergency. Three generations of Indians who grew later remained illiterates about the very fact of Emergency and about how Constitution ceased to exist and autocracy was institutionalised by it. That Rahul, who belongs to the first of the three illiterate generations, too, is illiterate about the Emergency imposed by his grandmother is therefore no surprise. And now, why the Emergency?

Justice H R Khanna confronted Niren De, asking whether there would be any remedy "if a police officer because of personal enmity killed another man?" Without batting an eyelid, De shamelessly said, "there would be no judicial remedy even in such a case of murder so long as the Emergency lasts."

Emergency — to pave way for dictatorship

Why did all the crimes against the Constitution, nation and the now celebrated human rights that began on that fateful night of June 25/26, 1975 happen? It was no sudden development. For a year before, a massive anti-corruption movement led by Jayaprakash Narayan was shaking the country and Indira's party and government. Six months before Emergency, on December 31, in his diary Indira's Joint Secretary in the PMO had written: "I am filled with foreboding...a crisis is building up...The main cause of the crisis is the PM...she is completely lacking in tolerance... She is not at all interested in the values which her father had done so much to foster. Nor is she deeply acquainted with our Constitutional framework of our country...she will not relinquish power regardless of what happens. In brief, the PM is only concerned with her power and rule. Such persons tend rapidly towards fascism. They have no reservations about becoming dictators." This insider's prophesy that Indira would turn a fascist and dictator came true six months later on June 25/26. Even as the JP campaign supported by the Indian Express and its Chairman Ramnath Goenka was delegitimising Indira on June 12, the Allahabad High Court declared her election marred by corrupt practices as null and void and unseated her from Parliament. Following her appeal, the Supreme Court on June 24 granted stay on the High Court order but on the condition that she can't speak or vote in Parliament. A Prime Minister without vote and voice in Parliament? The Opposition held a massive rally on 25th June demanding her resignation. This set the stage for the midnight operation on 25/26. What is the consequence of the Emergency imposed on that midnight? Here is an unbelievable example.

"Government can kill — court is helpless"

Under the proclamation of Emergency on that fateful night, Indira suspended all fundamental rights under Articles 14, 19 and 21 — freedom of speech, right to equality and also the right to life and liberty. As many as 1,11,000 people were place under preventive detention by invoking MISA. After 11 different high courts ruled that detention is illegal if grounds are not disclosed, the matter came to the Supreme Court. The central issue before the Supreme Court was whether the right to life, too, remained suspended during Emergency. Indira's Attorney General Niren De told the court that so long as the Emergency was in force, no citizen could move the court to enforce the right to life and personal liberty. Justice H R Khanna confronted Niren De, asking whether, in view of his submissions, there would be any remedy "if a police officer because of personal enmity killed another man?" Without batting an eyelid, Niren De shamelessly said, "there would be no judicial remedy even in such a case — of murder — so long as the Emergency lasts." De further said, "It may shock your conscience, it shocks mine, but consistent with my submission, no proceedings can be taken in courts of law on that score." For asking this question and dissenting against Emergency, H R Khanna was superseded by Indira Gandhi in the appointment of the Chief Justice of India. Even as Khanna condemned the Emergency, one judge shamelessly praised the Emergency as the vision for "diamond-hard, diamond-bright future" for the country and another without shame asked what is the grouse when all arrested leaders were being well-looked after in jails with "maternal care". The Supreme Court bent and accepted the Indira government's position that during Emergency dictatorship, even if the government murdered an innocent, the courts would be helpless. And the Congress government in Kerala did kill. It tortured and killed Rajan, an engineering student who protested against Emergency. Indira also amended the Defence of India Act to make internal disturbance a ground for imposing pre-censorship on newspapers and imposed pre-censorship. This is what is Emergency and dictatorship. Does Rahul, who cries for the Constitution today, know that this is what his party, his grandma did?

Laws to protect Indira, family

What Indira did on 25/26th night and later for 21 months was entirely to protect herself, her power and her family. She had handed the entire power over the party and the government to Sanjay Gandhi and his gang to rule the nation as an extra-constitutional authority, as the Shah Commission had found. Indira imposed Emergency on the fake ground that the JP movement was creating internal disturbances. There was not a single instance of violence in the JP movement. In fact, JP was sought to be killed by the Bihar Police. But Nanaji Deshmukh, who took the lathi blow on himself to save JP, had had his forearm fractured.

Indira imposed Emergency not to restore internal peace but to protect herself and her family. During Emergency, Indira amended the Constitution five times — 38th to 42nd amendments. Of which two amendments — 39th and 41st amendments were solely to save Indira from losing power and from being criminally charged even if she lost power. How the 39th Amendment was passed was a joke on Parliament and a mockery of democracy. The amendment was to protect Indira from being unseated by the Supreme Court by upholding the Allahabad High Court's verdict. The retrospective amendment preempted the case before the Supreme Court by declaring that no election petition against a Prime Minister, Speaker, President or Vice President shall be heard by it, directing that it be heard by a Parliament committee instead. How was the 39th Constitutional Amendment passed? It was introduced in the Lok Sabha on 7th August 1975 and passed on the same day. Taken to the Rajya Sabha on the 8th and passed on the same day. On 9th August, a Saturday, it was passed by majority of the state legislatures. And on Sunday, August 10, it was signed by the President. Why such breakneck speed? The Supreme Court was to hear Indira's election case the next day, on 11th August. The Supreme Court willingly obliged the Emergency regime by upholding the retrospective validation of Indira's election, which was declared null and void by the High Court. Emergency meant an atmosphere of terror in which even the Supreme Court was frightened and endorsed a retroactive law to protect the Prime Minister from losing power.

The 42nd Amendment said no amendment to the Constitution could be questioned in courts; that fundamental rights could be amended; that Parliament's power to amend the Constitution is unlimited "by way of addition, variation or repeal", that is Constitution can be totally done away with

Does Rahul know this is what is meant by Emergency? Does such an atmosphere exist in India today? Now come to 41st Amendment. It prescribed that no civil or criminal proceedings can be taken by anyone against the Prime Minister, President or Governor during his/her term in office and even after ceasing to be in office! That is lifelong pardon! This was introduced in Rajya Sabha on August 11 and passed on that very day.

42nd Amendment — Constitution can be repealed!

The most frightening act of Indira during Emergency was the 42nd Amendment, which was intended to perpetuate dictatorship. It completely defaced and defiled the Constitution. It said no amendment to the Constitution could be questioned in courts; that fundamental rights could be amended — which means done away with — and the courts cannot interfere; that Parliament's power to amend the Constitution is unlimited "by way of addition, variation or repeal", that is Constitution can be totally done away with; that courts cannot disqualify MPs for corrupt practices; that High Courts cannot sit in judgment over the constitutionality of central laws; that unlawful associations can be banned and the courts cannot interfere.

This meant that political parties could be declared unlawful and banned — leading to one party, the Congress, rule forever. The 42nd Amendment was passed by Parliament and the President assented to it on December 17, 1976. The date is critically important. This set the stage for Indira's decision a month later, on January 19, 1977 to hold general elections without lifting Emergency. Indira was confident she would win the elections and after her victory, the 42nd Amendment she had passed would institutionalise her family-run party dictatorship forever.

Has Rahul or Sonia who are crying for the Constitution and freedom today ever read the 42nd Amendment Indira had passed to perpetuate her family autocracy?

Fortunately, the ordinary people of India massively voted the Emergency regime out and saved our democracy. The Janata Party which came to power repealed all amendments passed by Indira's Emergency regime and restored the pre-Emergency Constitution. It is that Constitution Rahul is holding in his hands today. Not the destroyed Constitution passed by his grandma. Does Rahul know that? Till today he or his mother hasn't expressed any remorse for the destruction of the Constitution then. He remains blissfully illiterate. Why only Rahul, the entire national discourse is illiterate about Emergency today.

Modi to skip SCO meet at Astana, may attend July summit in Russia

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will skip the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation summit to be held on July 3-4 in Astana, Kazakhstan, but is likely to visit Moscow around July 8 for an India-Russia summit, diplomatic sources said.

Reports from Russia suggest the visit is almost finalised and a formal announcement will be made by Kremlin soon. India-Russia Summit will be held after two years, primarily due to the outbreak of the Ukraine conflict.

"The PM is giving the SCO summit a miss, but Russia is an ally and the two leaders haven't met for a bilateral for long. It's the perfect time for both of them to reinforce the strong ties between India and Russia. PM Modi will be embarking on his second international trip since he came back to power.

President Putin too has been re-elected," said a source. When the conflict between Russia and Ukraine began on February 24, 2022, Putin dialled Modi and phone calls continued on different occasions. Putin called Modi when he returned to power third time earlier this month. India, unlike many other countries, continued support Russia and brought crude oil from it. The world, despite being critical of Russia, accepted India's position on it.

Meanwhile, though it's almost certain that Modi will not attend the SCO summit, the Kazakhstan President called him on Tuesday. "Had a good conversation with President of Kazakhstan, Kassym Jomart Tokayev. Reiterated the commitment to advance our strategic partnership with Kazakhstan and conveyed India's support for the upcoming SCO summit," Modi said.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar may attend the SCO summit and an announcement will be made closer to the date.

Owaisi says 'Jai Palestine', Rijiju warns of action

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AIMIM leader Asaduddin Owaisi sparked a massive row on Tuesday after he chanted 'Jai Bhim, Jai Palestine, Jai Mim, Jai Telangana, and Allahu Akbar" after taking his oath as Lok Sabha MP. This invited protests from members of the treasury benches, following which the chair expunged the remarks from records. Radha Mohan Singh, who was in the Chair, assured the members that anything apart from the oath will not go on record.

Pro-tem Speaker Bhartruhari Mahtab assured the members that only oath or affirmation is being recorded. "I have said earlier please avoid invoking anything other than oath or affirmation. That is only to be recorded... That should be adhered to," Mahtab said.

Later, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju said that the government will check the rules if his remarks were appropriate or not. "We do not have any enmity with Palestine or any other country. While taking the oath, is it proper for any member to raise the slogan praising another country?. We will have to check the rules if it is appropriate", said Rijiju.

However, Owaisi defended his remarks outside Parliament while speaking to the media. He asserted he said "Jai Palestine". "Other members are also saying different things... I said 'Jai Bheem, Jai Meem, Jai Telangana, Jai Palestine'. How is it wrong? Tell me the provisions of the Constitution.. You should also listen to what others say. I said what I had to. Read what Mahatma Gandhi had said about Palestine."

Asked why he mentioned Palestine, he said, "They are oppressed people". Owaisi, who has been elected from the Hyderabad seat for his fifth term, took oath in Urdu. He recited a prayer before taking the oath.

Meanwhile, Union Minister Shobha Karandlaje also wrote to the Home Minister's office objecting to Owaisi's remarks and sought action. The BJP member demanded that Owaisi take the oath once again.

Union Minister G Kishan Reddy attacked Owaisi saying that his remarks were "absolutely wrong".

BJP MP from Bareilly Chhatra Pal Singh Gangwar too courted controversy when he invoked 'Hindu Rashtra' after taking oath. The 68-year-old leader's 'Jai Hindu Rashtra, Jai Bharat' chants were met with objections from the Opposition.

MHA's 'cyber commandos' to crack online frauds

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) is planning to create a special unit of 'cyber commandos' to tackle the growing challenges posed by online crimes, according to sources on Monday. Sources also confirmed that an announcement regarding the establishment of the 'cyber commandos' unit may be included in this year's budget, as it is part of the MHA's 100-day agenda.

The unit will comprise members from state and union territory police forces as well as Central Armed Police Forces. Cyber experts from the private sector will be engaged to support the police personnel, they added.

They mentioned that all personnel from state and central police forces will undergo specialised training to ensure readiness in handling cyber security issues.

The aim is to deploy these commandos in cyber police stations, where they will collaborate with local administrations to track and prevent cyber threats and related crimes.

It should be noted that Prime Minister Narendra Modi advocated for such a unit during a conference in January last year, prompting the MHA to instruct states and union territories (UTs) to identify and recommend 10 "cyber commandos" from their police forces to the ministry.

According to sources, the finer details of the commandos unit are still being finalised, with a possible announcement expected in the upcoming budget.

The MHA is also developing a mobile application named "Cyberdost" for reporting and alerting users about cybercrimes, which will be managed by the commandos.

'Climate change hit small farmers in 5 yrs'

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

A report released by the Forum of Enterprises for Equitable Development (FEED) in collaboration with the Development Intelligence Unit (DIU) says that climate change-induced extreme weather events in the last five years have impacted over 60% of marginal farmers in the form of crop and yield losses.

The report quoting the farmers claims that drought followed by flood-like situations caused significant loss of crops. It underlined that the increasing concentration of greenhouse gases led to global warming, which is changing the regional climate pattern. The report 'Impact of climate change on marginal farmers' has found most marginal farmers out of the ambit of any crop insurance and credit facilities.

Marginal farmers, those with less than one hectare of land, constitute the largest segment (68.5%) of India's agricultural sector but own only about 24% of the crop area.

Around 41% of farmers have experienced droughts, while 33% have faced excessive rains and non-seasonal floods, leading to significant crop losses, said the report.

Farmers are also affected by cyclones, prolonged summer and rise in temperatures above normal.

Tough ordinance to tackle paper leak

UP govt proposes maximum punishment up to life sentence & ₹1 cr fine for malpractices

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AMID rising instances of paper leaks, the Yogi Adityanath government in Uttar Pradesh on Tuesday decided to bring in a stringent ordinance to check malpractices in exams, proposing a maximum punishment of life sentence and ₹1 crore fine.

The proposal for the ordinance—Prevention of Unfair Means and Paper Leaks in Public Examinations Ordinance 2024—was cleared in a cabinet meeting chaired by Yogi on Tuesday.

Finance and parliamentary affairs minister Suresh Khanna said the government chose the ordinance route because the Assembly is not in session, adding that the Council of Ministers have already approved it.

Khanna said the ordinance would bring the Public Service Commission, Uttar Pradesh Subordinate Services Selection Board, Uttar Pradesh Board, universities, authorities and institutions nominated by them under its ambit.

"It will apply to all recruitment examinations, regularisation or promotion exams, and entrance exams for degrees, diplomas, or certificate courses," he said.

The minister said the ordinance will criminalise the distribution of fake question papers and creation of fake employment websites.

"If an examination is compromised, the financial burden will be recovered from the solver gang involved, the institutes and service providers, who will be permanently blacklisted," he said.

The ordinance includes provisions for property attachment.

All offences under this ordinance are classified as cognizable, non-bailable, and triable by sessions court and are non-compoundable.

It also proposes stringent conditions for bail.

20 yrs later, Nagaland civic body elections with 33% quota for women today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

NAGALAND's urban local body (ULB) elections will be held on Wednesday after a gap of 20 years. This is for the first time that the polls in the state will be held with 33% reservation for women.

On the eve of the polls, the authorities imposed prohibitory orders under Section 144 of the CrPC in Dimapur, Chumukedima and Niuland districts from 5 pm of June 25 till 7 pm of June 27. The orders were issued following the apprehension of breach of peace and threat to public tranquility "which might affect the peaceful conduct of the ULB elections..."

The state has three municipal and 36 town councils. Altogether 64 candidates were elected uncontested in different municipal and town councils. Another 253 candidates are in the fray.

The state labour commissioner declared June 26 as a paid holiday for all workers engaged in commercial and industrial establishments in the state to enable them to exercise their franchise.

To ensure free and fair elections, the influential Nagaland Baptist Church Council made an appeal for "one person, one vote, and vote without influence".

Nagaland enacted its Municipal Act in 2001 and the first ULB elections were held in 2004 but without reservation for women. The government issued a notification for the next ULB polls in 2012 but it could not be held following objections from tribal bodies. They stood opposed to quota and certain clauses in the Municipal Act.

In September the same year, the Assembly had passed a resolution to exempt the state from the Constitution's Article 243T that deals with quota for women but revoked it in 2016.

In 2017, the state government made an attempt to go to polls with 33% reservation for women but it backfired. Protestors attacked and set ablaze government buildings in parts of the state. The powerful tribal organisations contested that reservation for women was an infringement on the Naga customary laws, as enshrined in Article 371(A) of the Constitution which protects the state's traditional way of life.

Former chief of bar association held for murder

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

POLICE on Tuesday arrested senior lawyer and former Kashmir High Court Bar Association President Mian Qayoom for his alleged involvement in the 2020 murder of fellow advocate Babar Qadri, who was also a human rights expert.

Officials said Mian Qayoom was arrested by the Special Investigation Agency (SIA) of J&K police. "He was summoned by the SIA for investigation in the case and was arrested later," they said. Advocate Babar Qadri, in his 30s, was killed by militants inside his residence in Hawal area of downtown Srinagar on September 24, 2020. The militants had come to his residence posing as his clients.

Qadri, a human rights expert, had been frequently appearing on television debates and was critical of both government and separatists. He had escaped an assassination bid in 2018. Before his killing, Qadri had posted a video on social networking site Facebook in which he criticised Mian Qayoom for his political activities in the Kashmir Bar Association. He had accused Qayoom of using intimidation and coercion to influence Bar politics since 1990.

Pune Porsche crash: HC orders release of minor from observation home

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Tuesday ordered the release of a teenager accused of running his Porche car over two IT engineers in Pune on May 19. The court sent the teenager into the care and custody of his paternal aunt. She had filed a writ petition seeking the release of the minor accused lodged in an observation home.

The Bombay High Court's division bench consisting of Justice Bharti Dangre and Justice Manjusha Deshpande said the remand orders passed by the Juvenile Justice Board (JJB) illegal were without jurisdiction. The court directed the JJB's counselling sessions of the accused with a psychologist should continue.

The court questioned how the JJB remanded the minor in the observation home when he had already been released on bail. It remarked that the remand and its subsequent extension "completely nullified the effect of bail."

The bench questioned the source of power to remand a juvenile to an observation home once bail has already been granted. The court observed that the minor could not attend court-ordered counselling sessions due to concerns of mob lynching.

The JJB granted bail to the minor driver on May 19, hours after the fatal accident. However, on May 22, the JJB sent the teenager to an observation home. His parents and grandfather are also in custody in related cases. A Pune court has granted bail to the father last week in the case under Motor Vehicles Act. The court noted that the prosecution never filed any application to cancel the bail granted to the minor and stated that it would not deny relief on the grounds of maintainability. Meanwhile, on Tuesday, Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde extended Rs 10 lakh each to the deceased's parents.

The court's decision stirred strong emotions. The mother of one of the victims urged the judges to understand the pain of a bereaved mother. "Punishment should be given so that the public can trust the judicial system," said Mamta Koshta, mother of the deceased.

Nitish revokes ₹826 cr water contracts given by Tejashwi

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Bihar government on Tuesday revoked 350 contracts worth ₹826 crore, which were awarded during the previous Grand Alliance government in the state, triggering a spat between the ruling Nitish Kumar-led dispensation and the Opposition.

State Public Health Engineering Department (PHED) minister Niraj Kumar Singh 'Babloo' said the previous government awarded contracts related to the drinking water supply in rural areas, including the installation of hand pumps and mini-supply systems in the state. The contracts relate to the period from August 2022 to January this year when the grand alliance was in power, the minister told the media.

The government move follows Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's announcement during the recent Lok Sabha elections that the government would order a probe into irregularities in the departments held by RJD ministers in Grand Alliance government.

The minister said the contracts were cancelled based on an inquiry conducted by the department. It was found that "irregularities" were committed in the process of selecting contractors. The inquiry also revealed that due process was not followed in awarding the contracts. Singh said his department submitted the preliminary inquiry report to the competent authority in the state government for a thorough probe. An FIR was lodged with the local police, which initiated investigation into financial irregularities.

Senior RJD leader Lalit Yadav was the PHED minister in the previous Grand Alliance government. The minister said as many as 1,160 contracts worth ₹4,600 crore of the PHED were awarded by the previous government in 17 months, adding that the remaining contracts were being examined.

As per official sources, Banka district tops the list where 106 contracts have been cancelled, followed by Jamui (73), Lakhisarai (20), Aurangabad (18) and Ara (11).

State RJD spokesperson Mrityunjay Tiwary said CM Nitish Kumar and BJP leaders were scared of senior party leader Tejashwi Yadav and also of the of the impact of the welfare initiatives taken by the previous government.

MP ministers, not govt, to pay income tax as Yadav changes 52-year-old rule

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE Dr Mohan Yadav-led BJP government in Madhya Pradesh on Tuesday decided to end the 52-year-old system of the government paying the income tax on the salaries and perquisites of the ministers. Chaired by the CM, the state cabinet unanimously approved changing the 1972 rule under which the state government paid the income tax of salaries and perquisites of the ministers.

"The state cabinet has decided that our ministers and not the government will pay the income tax. They (ministers) have decided that they will not take any financial help from the government in paying the tax. Under the 1972 rule, the tax expenses of the ministers and even the parliamentary secretaries were to be covered by the state government.

In today's cabinet meeting, the CM suggested an end to the system, which was unanimously accepted by the cabinet members," state urban development and housing minister Kailash Vijayvargiya said.

Later, the CM also posted on social media platform X, informing about the key cabinet decision. "The income tax rule of 1972 is being changed. Earlier, the state government used to pay the income tax of state ministers, but now after 52 years, the government has decided to change this rule."

In the last five years, the state government has reportedly paid over ₹3 crore towards income tax on the salaries and perquisites of ministers. In 2023-24, the state reportedly paid over ~79 lakh towards income tax of 35 public representatives, including the Vidhan Sabha Speaker.

At Tuesday's state cabinet meeting, a proposal to allow the PWD to coordinate railway projects in Madhya Pradesh was also given a nod. "The state government provides scholarships to students of the Sainik Schools in MP, but often, students from Madhya Pradesh get admission to Sainik Schools outside the state and do not benefit from this facility. Today, the cabinet decided that the state will also provide scholarships to students who are studying in Sainik Schools outside the state," Vijayvargiya said.

Rajkot bandh to mark 1 month of gaming zone fire

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

MAIN markets in Gujarat's Rajkot wore a deserted look and other establishments remained closed on Tuesday as a bandh was observed to mark one month of the fire tragedy at a game zone which claimed 27 lives.

Schools, colleges and tuition centres also shut down in support of the 'Rajkot bandh' called by the opposition Congress. Police personnel were deployed at different places in the city and patrolling was intensified to avoid any untoward incident.

However, Congress workers clashed with police on Kalavad Road, leading to detention of several protesters, officials said. Congress MLA Jignesh Mevani and state party president Shaktisinh Gohil visited different areas to thank businessmen in making the bandh "successful". Gohil said, "Even after a month, government has not reached out to the victims' families. This is not the way democracy should function."

That sinking feeling: Joshimath fears mount as clouds hover over U'khand

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

UTTARAKHAND's Joshimath town, where buildings developed cracks due to land subsidence early last year, is facing threats as monsoon is set to arrive. The fissures that emerged on the ground remain untreated, raising concerns for the safety of the area.

"The impending arrival of the second monsoon following the land disaster underscores the urgent need for concrete measures to ensure the stability of the mountain," said Atul Sati, convener of the Joshimath Bachao Sangharsh Samiti.

"One of our major demands was that stabilisation work be done in Joshimath first. Areas where the ground has sunk by one foot to five feet can be saved by building a security wall around them," he said. "While 292 people have got compensation, the number of those affected has grown to more than 1,200. Government should come out with a detailed report in the form of a white paper on displacement and rehabilitation," Sati added.

Ajay Chaurasia, a scientist who conducted a survey of over 2300 buildings in Joshimath, said, "There are 14 specific areas in Joshimath where approximately 800 structurally compromised buildings fall under the red category. These structures will necessitate demolition and complete removal of debris to alleviate the burden on the mountains."

State Health Minister Dhan Singh Rawat, also minister in charge of Chamoli district, is camping in Joshimath. He said, "Joshimath SDM has been instructed to immediately improve the arrangement for water drainage in Manohar Bagh and other affected areas."

BJP nagar mandal secretary Jai Prakash Bhatt said the minister has assured prompt repairs to be carried out before the onset of the monsoon.

Assange reaches plea deal with US

To be freed today after accepting to one count of guilt, will head to Australia

BANGKOK

WIKILEAKS founder Julian Assange is on his way to face a final US court hearing on Wednesday under a plea deal that is expected to bring his years-long legal drama to a close and allow him to return to his native Australia as a "free man". Assange was released on Monday from a high-security British prison where he had been held for five years while he fought extradition to the United States, which sought to prosecute him for revealing military secrets.

He flew out of London to travel to the Northern Mariana Islands, a US territory in the Pacific where he will plead guilty to a single count of conspiracy to obtain and disseminate national defense information, according to a court document.

A private jet carrying the 52-year-old stopped to refuel in Bangkok on Tuesday, taking off again around to fly to Saipan, capital of the US territory where Assange is due in court on Wednesday morning.

He is expected to be sentenced to five years and two months in prison, with credit for the same amount of time he spent behind bars in Britain. Assange's wife Stella said he would be a "free man" after the judge signed off on the plea deal, thanking supporters who have campaigned for his release for years.

This handout from WikiLeaks shows founder Julian Assange looking out of the window as his plane from London approaches Bangkok on Tuesday | AFP

She urged supporters to monitor her husband's flight on plane-tracking websites and to follow the "AssangeJet" hashtag, saying in a post on social media platform X "we need all eyes on his flight in case something goes wrong".

The court in the Northern Mariana Islands was chosen because of Assange's unwillingness to go to the continental United States and because of the territory's proximity to his native Australia, a court filing said.

Under the deal, Assange is due to return to Australia, where the government said his case had "dragged on for too long" and there was "nothing to be gained by his continued incarceration".

Stella Assange said on X that her husband would have to repay the Australian government the $520,000 cost of the charter flight and urged supporters to donate cash.

Assange was wanted by Washington for releasing hundreds of thousands of secret US documents from 2010 as head of the whistleblowing website WikiLeaks. Since then he has become a hero to free speech campaigners. AFP

Leadership of Trudeau under cloud after party loses seat

TORONTO: Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's Liberal party has suffered a major upset in a special election for a Toronto district it has held for three decades, raising doubts about Trudeau's leadership ahead of next year's general election. Elections Canada reported on Tuesday that opposition Conservative candidate Don Stewart won the Toronto-St. Paul's district by almost 600 votes, 42.1% over the Liberal candidate's 40.5% with all 192 polling stations reporting results of Monday's voting. The Liberals had held Toronto-St. Paul's since 1993. It is one of 338 seats in Canada's House of Commons. Losing in Canada's largest city, a traditional Liberal stronghold, does not bode well for Trudeau ahead of the election expected in the fall of 2025. "Justin's position is seriously weakened inside the party," Canadian historian Robert Bothwell said. AP

Tax protesters set Kenya's Parliament afire, one shot dead

NAIROBI

PART of Kenya's parliament building was burned on Tuesday as thousands of protesters against a new finance bill entered and legislators fled, in the most direct assault on the government in decades. Journalists saw at least three bodies outside the complex where police had opened fire.

Protesters had demanded that legislators vote against the bill imposing new taxes on a country, East Africa's economic hub, where frustrations over the high cost of living have simmered for years.

But lawmakers voted to pass the bill, then fled through a tunnel as protesters, many of them youth, outmaneuvered police to enter parliament. Protesters allowed opposition legislators who voted against the bill to walk out of the besieged building. The fire was later put out.

One person shot dead was wrapped in a Kenyan flag and carried away. Chaos began to spread to other communities in the country.

Kenya's government had no immediate comment, and internet service in the country noticeably slowed. President William Ruto was outside Nairobi attending an African Union retreat. He had been expected to sign the finance bill into law this week and has two weeks to act.

The office of the Nairobi governor, a member of the ruling party, was also briefly on fire on Tuesday, with smoke pouring from its white facade.

The office is located near parliament. Police water cannons were used to extinguish the fire. Protesters could be heard shouting, "We're coming for every politician."

Police also fired live ammunition and threw tear gas canisters at protesters who sought treatment at a medical tent set up at a church near the parliament complex. Elsewhere, Kenyatta National Hospital said it had received 45 "victims," though it was not immediately clear if any were dead.

The Kenya Human Rights Commission shared a video of officers shooting at protesters and said they would be held to account. AP

Sensex hits 78K as private bank stocks rally

Current account surplus of $5.7 billion or 0.6% of GDP in the March quarter also attributed to the surge in market

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

LED by banking stocks, equity market scaled a fresh peak on Tuesday with the benchmarks - BSE Sensex hitting the 78,000 mark for the first time and NSE Nifty50 crossing the 23,700 level. The rally is also attributed to India recording a current account surplus of $5.7 billion or 0.6% of GDP in March quarter, the first surplus in 10 quarters.

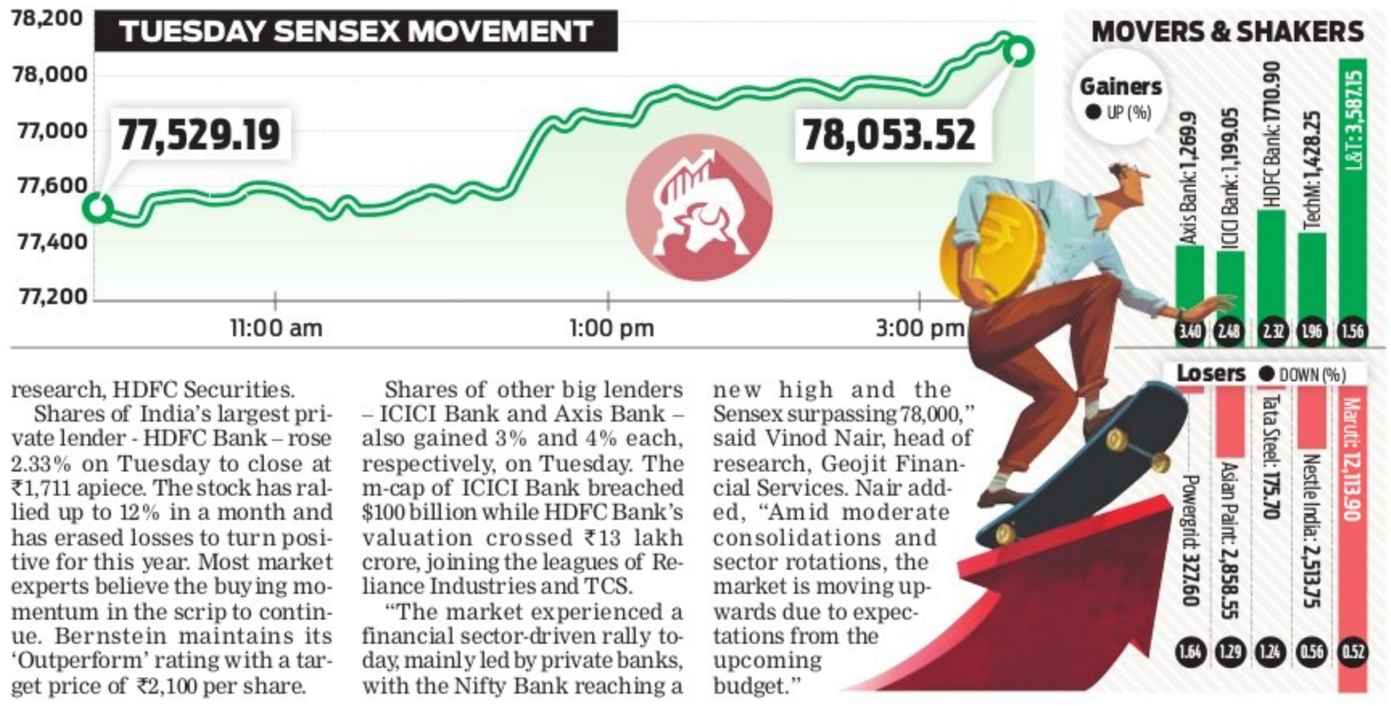
The Sensex advanced 712.44 points or 0.92% to settle at a new closing peak of 78,053.52. The index had breached the 77,000 mark for the first time on June 10. The NSE Nifty surged 183.45 points or 0.78% to settle at record high of 23,721.30.

"A rally in banking stocks pushed Nifty to hit another record, 34th time this year though a host of other sectors ended in the negative," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities.

Shares of India's largest private lender - HDFC Bank – rose 2.33% on Tuesday to close at ₹1,711 apiece. The stock has rallied up to 12% in a month and has erased losses to turn positive for this year. Most market experts believe the buying momentum in the scrip to continue. Bernstein maintains its 'Outperform' rating with a target price of ₹2,100 per share.

Shares of other big lenders – ICICI Bank and Axis Bank – also gained 3% and 4% each, respectively, on Tuesday. The m-cap of ICICI Bank breached $100 billion while HDFC Bank's valuation crossed ₹13 lakh crore, joining the leagues of Reliance Industries and TCS.

"The market experienced a financial sector-driven rally today, mainly led by private banks, with the Nifty Bank reaching a new high and the Sensex surpassing 78,000," said Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Financial Services. Nair added, "Amid moderate consolidations and sector rotations, the market is moving upwards due to expectations from the upcoming budget."



Telcos place bids of ₹11,000 cr for spectrum on Day 1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ON the first day of the spectrum auction, which saw five rounds of bidding, telecom service providers placed bids worth about ₹11,000 crore. The government has put over 10,500 Mhz spectrum, including airwaves for 5G services, valued at ₹96,238 crore on the block.

According to the Day 1 spectrum auction report issued by the Department of Telecom, biddings took place mainly in the 900 and 1800 Mhz bands. The Department sold 94.4 MHz spectrum on the first day out of 10,523 MHz spectrum available. The auction will resume on Wednesday.

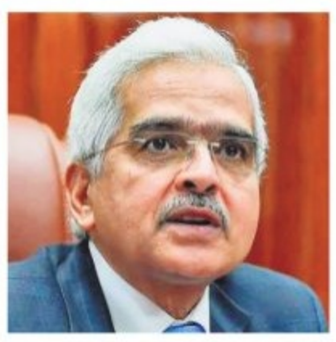
An analysis done by telecom expert Parag Kar showed that on first day, telcos bought 41 MHz spectrum in 900 MHz band for ₹4,465 crore, 48.4 MHz spectrum in the 1800 MHz band for ₹6,306.2 crore and 5 MHz in the 2100 MHz band for ₹360 crore.

Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea are participating in the auction. Jio has deposited the highest earnest money of ₹3,000 crore for the auction, which provides the company with the firepower to bid for maximum radiowaves among the three telcos. Airtel has submitted an earnest money deposit (EMD) of ₹1,050 crore and VIL of ₹300 crore.

COAI, the lobbying body for private telecom companies, said the auction will help catalyse the rapid rollout of 5G services across the country, leading to enhanced coverage and improved connectivity.

"The 5G auctions will catalyse the rapid rollout of 5G services across the country, leading to enhanced coverage and vastly improved connectivity. Moreover, successful deployment of 5G will be a major stride towards achieving digital inclusion," SP Kochhar, director-general of COAI, said in a statement It is the 10th spectrum auction since the process for sale of radiowaves started through an online bidding process in 2010.

The last spectrum auction was held in August 2022, which, for the first time, included radio waves for 5G services. The previous spectrum auction generated more than ₹1.5 lakh crore ($18 bn) for the government from the nation's three top mobile operators and newcomer Adani Group.



Reserve Bank will continue to focus on inflation: Das

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

RESERVE BANK Governor Shaktikanta Das on Tuesday asserted that the prevailing high interest rate is not impeding growth, making it clear that the monetary policy will continue to "unambiguously" focus on getting inflation down.

The country is at the threshold of a "major structural shift" in its growth trajectory and is moving towards a path where 8% GDP growth can be sustained on a yearly basis for a longer term, Das said addressing an event by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce and Industry here.

"Normally if growth is well sustained, if you've good growth, then it is a clear sign that the monetary policy and your interest rates are not acting as an impediment to growth," Das added.

Addressing the debate on the sacrifices to growth because of the elevated interest rates, Das said all such concerns are misplaced and the growth momentum is continuing month on month.

He further said RBI's casting team is projecting a GDP growth number at 7.4% for the June quarter, which is higher than the central bank's own estimate of 7.3%, and added that he is confident of the economy growing at the RBI estimated 7.2% in FY25.

"A good growth outlook gives us the necessary space to unambiguously focus on inflation," the governor added.

Using the analogy of chess to underline the focus on the inflation moderation going ahead, Das made it clear that one wrong move can distract and get us off-track now.

External debt rises by $40 bn to $664 bn in FY24

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE country's external debt has increased by $39.7 billion in the past fiscal to $663.8 billion over the previous fiscal ending March 2023, but the external debt-to-GDP ratio fell marginally to 18.7% in FY24 from 19% in FY23 due to rise in size of the GDP, show the RBI data.

If compared the external debt to the forex reserves, the latter is very close at $653 billion, after losing around close to $3 billion last week when it had stood at $656 billion.

"At March- end 2024, the country's external debt was placed at $663.8 billion, a rise of $39.7 billion over its level at end-March 2023. The external debt-to-GDP ratio fell to 18.7% at end-March 2024 from 19% at the end of March 2023, the RBI said Tuesday.

Had it not been for the valuation effect due to the appreciation of the US dollar vis-a-vis the rupee and other major currencies such as the Japanese yen, the euro the British pound which amounted to $8.7 billion, external debt would have increased by $48.4 billion instead of $39.7 billion, the central bank said.

Of the total debt, long-term debt (with original maturity of above one year) stood at $541.2 billion, up $45.6 billion over March 2023, while the share of short-term debt (with original maturity of up to one year) in total external debt declined to 18.5% as of March 2024 from 20.6% in March 2023. Similarly, the ratio of short-term debt (original maturity) to foreign exchange reserves declined to 19% in March 2024 from 22.2% in March 2023, the data show.

Short-term debt on residual maturity basis (debt obligations that include long-term debt by original maturity falling due over the next 12 months and short-term debt by original maturity) constitute 42.9% of the total external debt in March 2024, as against 44% in March 2023 and stood at 44.1% of foreign exchange reserves (47.4% in March 2023). The US dollar-denominated debt remained the largest component of the country's external debt, with a share of 53.8% as of end March 2024, followed by debt denominated in the rupee at 31.5%), the yen at 5.8%, the special drawing rights (SDRs) at 5.4%, and the euro at 2.8%.

JAPAN

BOJ OPENS DOOR FOR A HAWKISH DOUBLE SURPRISE

The Bank of Japan (BOJ) may go for bigger quantitative tightening (QT) plan in July than markets think, and may even be accompanied by an interest rate hike, as it steps up a steady retreat from its still-huge monetary stimulus. Hawkish hints delivered over the past week highlight the pressure the central bank faces in the wake of renewed yen falls. It could push inflation above its 2% target by raising import costs. Notwithstanding a market shock or severe economic downturn, a rate hike would be on the table at each policy meeting, including July's, said three sources familiar with its thinking. The BOJ kept interest rates steady around zero this month. However, the board debated the need for a timely hike with one member signaling the chance of doing so to prevent cost pressures from pushing up inflation too much, a summary of the meeting showed on Monday.

SINGAPORE

CORE INFLATION AT 3.1% FOR THIRD CONSECUTIVE MONTH

Core inflation in Singapore stayed at 3.1% in May, same as reported in April and March. As per the data from the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS) and the Ministry of Trade and Industry (MTI) on Monday, a rise in services inflation was offset by lower electricity and gas, and retail and other goods inflation. Core inflation, which excludes accommodation and private transport, rose by 0.1 on a month-on-month basis in April. Meanwhile, consumer price index, or headline inflation, went up to 3.1 per cent year-on-year in May, from 2.7% in April, driven by higher private transport inflation. Headline inflation rose by 0.7% on a MoM basis. Electricity and gas inflation fell from 7.6% to 6.9% due to a smaller rise in electricity prices. Retail and other goods inflation fell from 1.6% to 1.5%. The official statement attributed this to a slower pace of rise in prices of personal effects.

Adani to invest ₹1.3L cr in FY25 across segments

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ADANI group plans to invest about ₹1.3 lakh crore across group companies this fiscal as it doubles down on its $100 billion investment guidance over the next 7-10 years to grow businesses, group CFO said on Tuesday.

According to a PTI report, the investment across portfolio companies that range from ports to energy, airports, commodities, cement and media will be 70% met through internal cash generation and the remaining through debt.

The group will look to refinance $3-4 billion of debt maturing in the year and raise an additional $1 billion in project financing, he said, adding the annual $2-2.5 billion of equity infusion by bringing in new investors is also likely to continue. Renewable energy company Adani Green will complete 6-7 GW project, while the solar wafer manufacturing unit will attain scale. Also, the new airport at Mumbai will be completed, he said. The projected capital expenditure for 2024-25 (April 2024 to March 2025) fiscal is 40% higher than what the portfolio is estimated to have incurred in FY24. The group had previously guided a $100 billion capex over the next 7-10 years.

Quant MF probe: No need for panic redemption, advise experts

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

AMID reports of Sebi probe against Quant Mutual Fund for alleged front running, investors are in a stress over the safety of their investments. Making things worse is that a majority of shares of the companies in which Quant MF has invested declined for the second consecutive day on Tuesday, despite the market indices closing at new record peaks.

However, experts have a mixed opinion on the likely impact of the probe in investors' wealth. As per reports, Sebi has conducted searches at the Mumbai office of Quant founded by Sandeep Tandon in the midst of global financial crisis of 2007-08. The fund house has, however, said it has only received inquiries from the the market watchdog.

Quant Mutual Fund has an asset under management (AUM) of ₹93,000 crore across 8 million folios. The fund house boasts of some of the best performing funds in their respective categories such as Quant large and Mid Cap, Quant Mid Cap, Quant Small Cap and Quant ELSS Taxsaver Fund.

Jeevan Kumar KC, head of investment advisory at Geojit Financial Services, told the TNIE from Kochi that the ongoing probe into the front running allegations against Quant is likely to create a negative sentiment among its investors and we can expect redemptions in Quant schemes. "Those who are planning to invest lump sum in Quant schemes can consider investing in the same category schemes of other prominent fund houses, while those investing in SIPs can continue their investments, if they are able to withstand the present volatility," Kumar said.

Himanshu Srivastava, associate director at Morningstar India, doesn't see any wider impact on the market.

"The Quant incident is an isolated case specific to one fund house and reflects its particular investment practices. It is not indicative of overall functioning of the funds industry, or practices followed by other funds," Srivastava said in a note.

"Our aim is to become the market leader in these regions within the next 12 to 18 months," he added. iD Fresh Food's most popular offerings include Idly Dosa batter, Malabar Parota and Coffee, among others. It is introducing these products in new cities including Goa, Indore, Ahmedabad, Surat, Vadodara and Dehradun.

While the current focus is on making core products widely accessible, specific plans for each city will be shaped by market performance and consumer feedback in the next phase, the company added.

'New CEO needs to give Wipro renewed direction'

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

FY24 has been one of the most challenging years in Wipro's history, as per Rishad A Premji, Chairman of the company. In his letter to shareholders, in the company's annual report, Premji said, "Despite some short-term challenges, fundamentals of our business remain unchanged...I am confident that our best days lie ahead."

The company was struggling to win mega deals and its profit and revenue figures were dropping. But with new CEO Srinivas Pallia, who took charge from April 2024, analysts say he has had an immediate impact with clients. "There is still some way to go to shake off some of the baggage of the recent past, but Pallia has had an immediate impact reassuring Wipro' clients and reenergising his deal teams," Phil Fersht, HFS Research CEO and chief analyst told this newspaper.

The firm has been bleeding talent, and morale has never been lower. He needs to nail down his plans quickly, give the firm renewed direction, and convince key stakeholders he is the right choice during perhaps the darkest period in Wipro's history, added Fersht. "He's off to a good start, but the hard work really starts now," he said.

It bagged a $500 million deal from a leading US communication service provider recently. The deal is for a period of five years. In April, the company announced it won a multi-million-dollar deal to transform Nokia's digital workplace services.

Peter Bendor-Samuel, CEO of Everest Group, told TNIE that it is encouraging to see improved morale translating into a more aggressive market posture and the start of improved results in the form of market success. "Most CEOs experience a honeymoon and Srini appears to be in that phase. However, Srini needs patience from the investors if he is to engineer a true return to the leaderboard," he said.

Warner bows out with Australia WC exit

David Warner's 15-year international career came to an anti-climactic end as Australia were dumped out of the T20 World Cup. The 37-year-old opening batter had always said the World Cup would be his farewell to international cricket. He is the country's leading run-scorer in T20 cricket with 3,277 from 110 games.

Afghanistan's jewel in the crown - Rashid

As was evident against Bangladesh on Monday & Tuesday, the spinner has been instrumental in taking the team to another level

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

Skipper Rashid Khan (R) claimed 4/23 as his team defeated Bangladesh by 8 runs (DLS method) to storm into the T20 World Cup semifinal on Tuesday | AP

BY the time Afghanistan finished playing their first official fixtures in an Asian Cricket Council Trophy in Malaysia in 2004, there was already a buzz back home. The side, some of whom were refugees from Pakistan, gave a good account of themselves as they finished sixth in that tournament (refugees coming from Pakistan and cricket go back a long way; in 1995, Allah Dad Noori, a refugee from the country, had set up the Afghan Cricket Federation).

While the details of that competition are sketchy, Kabul was already alive with possibilities. A report in Wisden's 2004 edition said (since quoted in the book Second XI: Cricket in its Outposts): "Allah Dad Noori was playing one day in Kabul when a young man walked by carrying an AK47, watched for a while before being invited to join in," the report stated. "Afterwards, he asked if he could play next time. When he returned he was without the rifle. "Where's your AK47?" asked Noori. "Oh, I don't need that," the youth replied. "I'm playing cricket."

If Noori was one of the founding fathers of the side, there can be no doubt about the team's current rockstar. Rashid Khan. He's their icon cricketer, the lodestar writing a script that's never before written in the history of this century-old sport.

On Monday and Tuesday, he conjured magic on a wet Kingstown night in Saint Vincent and the Grenadines. For his first act, he lifted the side's total to a modicum of respectability; his 19 off 10 (three sixes) gave the side something — anything — to bowl at.

Even during his little cameo, you could see how much he wanted history; not only for himself but for his side and, indeed, his war-torn country. He had just launched Tanzim Hasan Sakib for a six in front of square on the off side. With four balls left in the innings, Khan sensed an opening. Off the next ball, his snake shot (that's what he calls it) didn't come off. A leading edge went beyond the ring on the off side. Wanting to be on strike, Khan turned around but Karim Janat sent him back.

Aghast, Khan, who was mid pitch, threw his bat in the general direction of Janat before retreating to the safety of the non-striker's end. On air, Ian Smith summed up the mood. "I have never seen that ever," the Kiwi commentator said. "In any level of cricket." Yep.

Off the next ball, Janat took the single. Two balls later, Khan essayed his now famous whiplash-like bat swing to heave the ball over cow corner. 98m. 115/5 in 20 overs. Not the total they wanted but a total. That was Rashid's final decisive contribution late on Monday night.

His final devastating blow came early on Tuesday morning, when all hope had seemingly left the building. Bangladesh themselves were heading out — they had quite bizarrely opted to not try and chase the total down in 12.1 overs but preferred to take it deep — but they were taking Rashid & Co out with them.

That's when the wrist-spinner brought himself on. Four balls later, lift-off. The ball had pitched in line before skidding through Soumya Sarkar's defences. Usually, he doesn't prefer to bowl out in one go. He likes to have at least one over up his sleeve. On the day, it had to go out the window. 63/4 is not the time for convention when the target is 116. Especially not when the opposition has two of their best batters, Towhid Hridoy and Litton Das, in.

In a dazzling spell, he nipped this blossoming partnership (Hridoy was caught in the deep while slogging) before he removed Mahmudullah (caught behind off a quicker one) and Rishad Hossain (bowled by a googly) off consecutive deliveries. 80/5 had suddenly become 80/7. History was about to be penned by the country's greatest-ever cricketer. Being a wrist-spinner is hard work. Being a wrist-spinner and trying to master a wet ball is harder. Being a wrist-spinner while attempting to master a wet ball and targetting the stumps as well as keeping a lid on the scoring rate is a bit like using your phone on 5% battery for a few days. It's bloody hard.

But then, the 25-year-old is no ordinary cricketer. He, like Jasprit Bumrah, is already an all-terrain great in this format. The minefields of Bangladesh? The IPL 2024 pitches? West Indies' low and slow turners? Durham in the T20 Blast? Canterbury in the Super Smash? When and where doesn't matter. Europe, Asia, Oceania, Africa had already been conquered. It was now time for the Americas to feel the Khan effect. For years, there was a running joke about footballers not being good enough to do it 'on a rainy Tuesday night' (the jokey insinuation began after some of the top Premier League clubs started tripping up while playing away at Stoke).

Khan is so good he can actually do it on a rainy night anywhere in the world and graveyard hour on Tuesday was proof. Brief scores: Afghanistan 115/5 in 20 ovs (Gurbaz 43; Rishad 3/26) bt Bangladesh 105 in 17.5 ovs (Litton 54 n.o; Naveen 4/26, Rashid 4/23).

RESERVE DAY EXPLAINED

The first semifinal has a reserve day, but not the second game as there is only one day between the match and final. A total of 250 minutes of additional time is available for both semifinals, with the first semifinal on June 26 scheduled to have 60 minutes available at the end of the day's play with a further 190 minutes available next day. The second semifinal on June 27 has an additional 250 minutes available on the scheduled day, while the final on June 29 has a reserve day on June 30. A minimum of 10 overs per side is needed for a result. Every effort will be made to complete the match on the scheduled day, even if that means a reduction in overs. If the match starts but then is delayed, it will resume from that point on reserve day. Any semifinal that is washed out would see the sides who finished higher in the Super 8s — which is S Africa and India — progress. If the final is abandoned then both teams will be announced joint-winners.

Austria stun Netherlands, France held

MARCEL Sabitzer scored late for Austria to advance to the knockout stage of the European Championship with a 3-2 win over the Netherlands on Tuesday. The Austrians needed a point to be sure of progress and got off to a great start with Dutch forward Donyell Malen scoring an own goal in the sixth minute. In fact, Austria, who have earned rave reviews for their play in germany, advanced as group winners thanks to France's 1-1 draw with Poland.

In the Netherlands match, first-half substitute Xavi Simons set up Cody Gapko to equalize two minutes after the break, but Romano Schmid headed Austria back in front in the 59th. Memphis Depay equalized with a brilliant finish in the 75th, though he had to endure a VAR check as referee Ivan Kruzliak felt he handled the ball. The check found Depay hadn't. But Sabitzer restored Austria's lead two minutes later with a fierce strike from a difficult angle. It proved to be the winner despite a frenetic finale with chances at both ends.

MONDAY'S RESULTS: Croatia 1-1 Italy, Albania 0-1 Spain
CONFIRMED ROUND OF 16 GAMES: Italy vs Switzerland.

Portugal have already qualified but the thrilling thing is any of the other 7 teams in action has a chance of qualification, either with a draw or a win. There are as many as three direct winner-takes-all clashes. Fasten your seatbelts.

Mbappe scores upon return

Kylian Mbappé scored from the penalty spot on his return after breaking his nose before France conceded a spot kick by Robert Lewandowski in a 1-1 draw. Mbappé removed his protective mask to celebrate in front of France's fans after converting his 56th-minute penalty for his first goal at a European Championship. Lewandowski had his penalty saved in the 77th minute by France goalkeeper Mike Maignan, who was adjudged to have come off his line. The Poland striker found the bottom corner with his second attempt.

Italy alive

In Monday's late match, Mattia Zaccagni kept Italy's title defence alive with an incredible late equaliser in the holder's thrilling 1-1 draw with Croatia, as Spain completed a perfect group stage and showed Albania the door. Italy are in the last 16 of Euro 2024 after forward Zaccagni struck a superb equaliser with almost the last kick of the game in Leipzig, sparking an explosion of joy among the Italian fans and even a sprint up the line from 65-year-old coach Luciano Spalletti. "Nobody believed any more, but the players did," Spalletti told Sky Sport in Italy, before raging at critics in the Italian press pack.

Brazil fail to break down Costa Rica

AFP @Los Angeles

A LACKLUSTRE Brazil launched their Copa America campaign with a dour 0-0 draw against Costa Rica on Monday as James Rodriguez inspired Colombia to a 2-1 win over Paraguay. Brazil, chasing a 10th Copa America crown, dominated possession and territory in the Group D game at the SoFi Stadium in Los Angeles but struggled to break down a resolute Costa Rica.

The Brazilians thought they had taken the lead in the 30th minute after Marquinhos tapped in at the back post after a flick on by Rodrygo following a free-kick by Raphinha.

But after an agonising VAR delay, the goal was chalked off for a fractional offside decision as Costa Rica escaped.

That was as good as it got for Brazil, who laboured to break down Costa Rica's defence for the remainder of the game, registering just three shots on target despite enjoying 73.5 percent possession.

Costa Rica were content to sit back, defending in numbers and rarely venturing forward with any purpose. Brazil coach Dorival Junior paid tribute to Costa Rica's defensive organisation. "They were very well organised from start to finish," he said. "They were dedicated in everything they did."

MONDAY'S RESULTS: Colombia 2-1 Paraguay, Brazil 0-0 Costa Rica
WEDNESDAY'S MATCHES: Ecuador vs Jamaica (3.30 AM on Thursday), Venezuela vs Mexico (6.30 AM on Thursday)

Colombia finished the day top of Group D after collecting all three points in their deserved win over Paraguay at Houston's NRG Stadium.

Rodriguez, whose club career has languished in the decade since he rose to prominence with a dazzling performance at the 2014 World Cup, created both of Colombia's goals.

The 32-year-old midfielder, who has played just a handful of minutes for Brazilian club Sao Paulo in the two months leading into the Copa America, set up the opening goal for Colombia in the 32nd minute.

Ten minutes later Colombia doubled their lead and again it was a goal engineered by the trusty left boot of Rodriguez.

This time the goal arrived from the opposite flank, with Rodriguez swinging in a wicked free-kick that was glanced in by Crystal Palace midfielder Jefferson Lerma.

Vihari reverses his decision, will play for Andhra

AGENCIES @Visakhapatnam

INDIAN all-rounder Hanuma Vihari has committed to represent Andhra following assurance from the state's ruling party, Telugu Desam Party (TDP) that his grievances with the state association would be addressed. The 30-year-old had announced in February that he would "never play for Andhra again" as he had lost his "self-respect" after being forced to quit as the team's captain.

In March this year, this daily had reported that the Andhra Cricket Association (ACA) had served Vihari a show-cause notice after he alleged that the governing body had unceremoniously removed him as captain.

Soon after Vihari announced his decision to leave Andhra, he was approached by the Madhya Pradesh Cricket Association (MPCA). Vihari was granted No-Objection Certificate (NOC) by ACA but he changed his mind, leaving the MPCA aggrieved. He has played 16 Tests for India, scoring 839 runs in 28 innings at an average of 33.56, including a century and five half-centuries.

EFI picks Anush over Shruti for Paris Games

ENS @New Delhi

THE Equestrian Federation of India (EFI) has picked Anush Agarwalla to represent the country at the upcoming Paris Games in the dressage event after he pipped close contender Shruti Vora on better average after a careful evaluation of their recent performances.

The decision was taken unanimously by the Executive Council with the federation president handing his stamp of approval. It will be the first time the country will be having a representation at the dressage event at the quadrennial event.

Anush has been a consistent operator since the qualification period began last year and had achieved Minimum Eligibility Requirement (MER) four times while veteran Shruti earned the required two MERs this month. According to the federation, Anush was given the nod as he had a better average score of 67.695 %. Shruti's average was 67.163 %.

As per the criteria set by the EFI, a rider-horse combination is required to achieve a minimum of 67% twice between January 1, 2023 and June 24, 2024 to be eligible for the Paris Games qualification. According to EFI selection criteria, if more than one athlete is eligible then the athlete with the highest average in Grand Prix out of the best four events in the past one year shall be chosen to participate. Scores at only FEI level competitions 3* and above are counted.

Will play if I can 'fight for title': Nole

AGENCIES @London

Novak Djokovic will take a call on his participation before Friday's draw | AFP

NOVAK Djokovic says he will only play at Wimbledon if he is fit enough to "fight for the title" but his recovery from knee surgery is going well.

The seven-time champion at the All England Club was forced to withdrew ahead of his French Open quarterfinal against Casper Ruud earlier this month after tearing the medial meniscus in his right knee. His chances of competing at Wimbledon, which starts on July 1, initially looked bleak but he has made rapid progress and had a two-hour training session at Wimbledon's Aorangi Park on Monday.

The 37-year-old Serbian World No 2 says he will make a decision before Friday's draw.

"I didn't come here to play a few rounds," he told the BBC. "If I know I can play close to my maximum or at maximum, then I'll play. If not, then I'll give somebody else a chance to play. "I really will only play if I know I am in a state which is good enough to go far in the tournament and fight for the title, so that's the condition.

"Rehab is going in the right direction every single day, a few percent better and better. That's what's giving me hope and encouragement to keep going.

"I'm taking things gradually. I'm not pushing myself yet 100 percent but I'm hoping that's going to come in the next few days." Djokovic, who has won 24 Grand Slams, has reached the Wimbledon final for the past five years, losing a thrilling five-setter last year to Carlos Alcaraz.

He will attempt to win an elusive Olympic gold medal at the Paris Games, which start on July 26. Djokovic's long-time rival Andy Murray is also in a race to be fit for Wimbledon after undergoing back surgery last week while Rafael Nadal is missing the tournament to focus on the Olympics.

The shifting plates

TECTONIC MOVEMENTS OF THE STILL-GROWING HIMALAYAS POSE A RISK TO THE SETTLEMENTS AT ITS FOOTHILLS

GARGI DESHPANDE

EARTHQUAKES, tremors and landslides are not new to the North Indian topography, but their increasing frequency is alarming. The Joshimath tragedy of 2023 and the more recent tunnel collapse in Uttarakhand have raised ecological concerns in the mountain regions, especially the foothills of the Himalayas. Even the Everest base camp seems to be flooding with people, in recent times. There are many popular hill stations, and pilgrim centres on the foothills, and the Ganges plains, that hold extreme significance to the people of India. But, these locations have become overcrowded, which is also raising environmental concerns. So is overpopulation the only concern? Not really! The Himalayas do not face only external problems from overcrowding. There is a more natural, internal change that takes place in this magnificent mountain range every year that could soon put a lot of these Indian hill stations 'under the sheets' of these mountain ranges.

The Indian subcontinent, situated at the collision zone of two major tectonic plates -- the Indian Plate and the Eurasian Plate – began around 50 million years ago, giving rise to the Himalayan mountain range through a process known as orogenesis. The Himalayas are young fold mountains, as they were formed only a few million years ago, and continue to rise every year, and the Indian subcontinent continues to move northwards, into Asia, which explains the frequent earthquakes and landslides in the region today.

The movement of tectonic plates in the Himalayan region is driven by the process of plate tectonics, wherein the Earth's lithosphere is divided into several rigid plates that float on the semi-fluid asthenosphere beneath them. The Indian Plate, moving northward at a rate of about 5 cm a year, continues to converge with the Eurasian Plate, leading to compression, uplift, and folding of the Earth's crust in the Himalayan region. This tectonic activity is responsible for the seismicity and mountain-building processes that characterise the Himalayas. In recent years, there has been growing concern over the rapid movement of the Himalayan tectonic plates and the potential risks it poses to the hill stations of North India and the plains across the River Ganga.

The movement of the Himalayan tectonic plates has significant implications for the geology, topography, and socioeconomic landscape of North India and the surrounding regions. One of the primary concerns in these areas is the increased risk of seismic activity, earthquakes and landslides. The collision between the Indian Plate and the Eurasian Plate generates immense tectonic stress along fault lines, accumulating strain and releasing energy in the form of earthquakes.

In addition to seismic hazards, the movement of tectonic plates can also impact the topography and hydrology of the region. The uplift of the Himalayas alters the flow patterns of rivers and streams, leading to changes in drainage patterns, erosion, and sedimentation. The rapid movement of tectonic plates can trigger geological processes such as faulting, fracturing, and uplift, which may destabilise the hills and increase the susceptibility of the region to landslides and soil erosion. Hill stations and urban settlements in the foothills of the Himalayas are particularly vulnerable to these hazards, as they are situated in areas prone to slope instability and geological instability.

The implications of the moments of Himalayan tectonic plates extend beyond the immediate vicinity of the mountain range, reverberating across the Indian subcontinent and beyond. The North Indian states of Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, and Jammu and Kashmir, are directly affected by the geological processes associated with the Himalayan tectonic plates. The hill stations situated here, nestled amidst the majestic peaks of the Himalayas, are popular tourist destinations known for their scenic beauty, cool climate, and cultural attractions. However, they are also prone to the hazards posed by the rapid movement of tectonic plates, including earthquakes, landslides, and flash floods.

The vulnerability of these hill stations is further exacerbated by factors such as unplanned urbanisation, deforestation, and inadequate infrastructure, which increase the risk of disaster and hamper the effectiveness of response and recovery efforts.

The plains across the Ganga, including the densely populated regions of Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, and West Bengal, are also vulnerable to the impacts of the tectonic movements. It can alter the flow patterns of rivers, leading to changes in sedimentation, and water availability, and increasing the risk of floods.

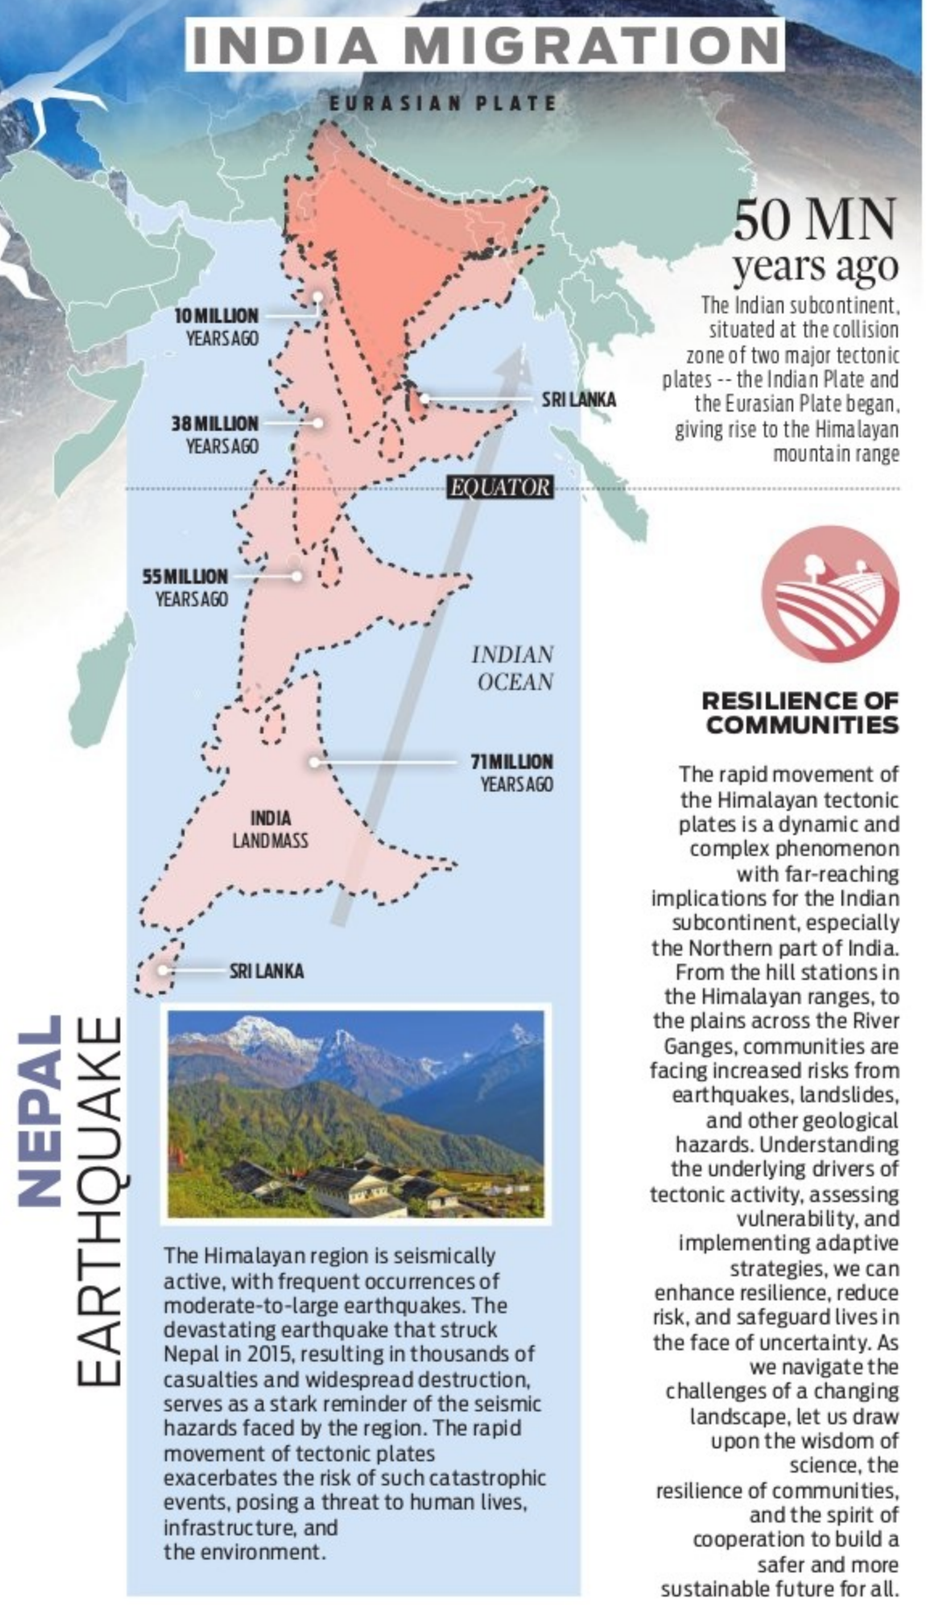
The Gangetic Delta is particularly susceptible to the impacts of sea-level rise, subsidence, and coastal erosion, intensified by the tectonic activity in the Himalayan region.

Mitigating risk to life

Early warning systems regarding earthquakes, landslides, and other geological hazards can help reduce the risk to human lives and infrastructure. These systems rely on realtime monitoring of seismic activity, geodetic measurements, and remote sensing data to provide timely alerts and actionable information to at-risk communities. Conducting comprehensive risk assessments and integrating hazard mapping into land-use planning can help identify areas prone to geological hazards and inform development decisions. This includes zoning regulations, building codes, and infrastructure standards that take into account the seismic vulnerability of the region.

Promoting regional cooperation and collaboration among countries sharing the Himalayan region can enhance the effectiveness of disaster risk reduction efforts and foster resilience across borders. This includes sharing data, expertise, and best practices, coordinating response and recovery efforts, and jointly addressing transboundary challenges such as water management and ecosystem conservation.

By implementing these strategies, policymakers, scientists, and communities can work together to mitigate the risks posed by the rapid movement of the tectonic plates and build a more resilient future for subcontinent.



The Himalayan region is seismically active, with frequent occurrences of moderate-to-large earthquakes. The devastating earthquake that struck Nepal in 2015, resulting in thousands of casualties and widespread destruction, serves as a stark reminder of the seismic hazards faced by the region. The rapid movement of tectonic plates exacerbates the risk of such catastrophic events, posing a threat to human lives, infrastructure, and the environment.

RESILIENCE OF COMMUNITIES

The rapid movement of the Himalayan tectonic plates is a dynamic and complex phenomenon with far-reaching implications for the Indian subcontinent, especially the Northern part of India. From the hill stations in the Himalayan ranges, to the plains across the River Ganges, communities are facing increased risks from earthquakes, landslides, and other geological hazards. Understanding the underlying drivers of tectonic activity, assessing vulnerability, and implementing adaptive strategies, we can enhance resilience, reduce risk, and safeguard lives in the face of uncertainty. As we navigate the challenges of a changing landscape, let us draw upon the wisdom of science, the resilience of communities, and the spirit of cooperation to build a safer and more sustainable future for all.

A BREWING STORM

In a world where deadly heat waves, floods and dust storms are becoming increasingly worrisome, many in B'luru are experiencing 'climate anxiety', a form of collective worry involving existential fears about survival

POOJA DAS

IN the summer that went by, the city of Bengaluru was trending on social media; this time not for its famed cool clime but for the deadly heat wave as temperatures touched 39°C, a number unheard of in namma ooru. "I was a bundle of nerves with the situation being so unprecedented. I have never experienced such heat before," shares Sargam Parashar (20), who found it extremely hard to concentrate on anything, much less her exams in the rising heat and subsequent severe water shortage. "There was a sense of helplessness. This was directly affecting our lives, and it was beyond our control," she says.

Parashar, like many others, is struggling with an up-and-coming alarming concept called climate or eco-anxiety. If you were a '90s kid, odds are you had the luxury of watching climate disasters on the big screen and imagining it as a far-away possibility. But what was once fiction has turned into reality for an entire generation growing up amidst disasters. Pallavi Phatak, who leads the climate and education programme at Asar Social Impact Advisors points out that their research reveals high levels of anxiety among young people regarding climate change. "We surveyed first-time voters aged between 18 and 22 about their perceptions of climate awareness and literacy. Many expressed high anxiety, fear, and feeling powerless," says Phatak, adding that more focus should be given to addressing systemic issues rather than focusing solely on individual actions like switching off lights.

Changing Narratives

Ricky Kej, the three-time Grammy winner, whose music reflects his concerns of the environment, offers a unique perspective on the communication of climate change. He criticises the fear-based approach often used by activists suggesting it can exacerbate climate anxiety, especially among children. "Constantly telling children their future is in jeopardy can be harmful, even if the message is accurate," he says, advocating for a more positive approach, akin to biologist Sir David Attenborough's style. "We should showcase the beauty of the world, hoping people will find the motivation to protect, conserve, and sustain it," he suggests. Agrees Suhirtha Muhil, who works on creating climate tools for children. "When people don't understand what's happening around them and are only exposed to dire information about climate change, it can seem more doom-laden and increase stress for children," she says, adding, "Observing and understanding these changes first-hand helps alleviate some of that anxiety."

Ajay Raghavan, co-founder of Bangalore Creative Circus, turned to art to deal with his climate anxiety. "I was living in a bubble until I saw Before The Floods around 2016 when I truly grasped the severity of climate change. The film shook me, especially considering my daughter's future. My own journey was more about anxiety than anything else," shares Raghavan, leading him to explore creative solutions to climate change, blending art, science, and sustainability. "Art provides a unique way to engage people, foster optimism, deal with anxiety, and give an alternative to the mainstream conversation which is often very dark."

Actor Samyukta Hornad, who also works on spreading climate awareness highlights that climate change disrupts entire ecosystems. "We have to be patient and do our small part to see the impact later," she says.

OVERCOME CLIMATE ANXIETY

1. Look for people in your locality who are doing work related to climate change and support them in whatever way possible
2. Stay optimistic and reframe what climate action means. Understand that just because you couldn't halt glacial melting, doesn't mean small community-level actions are not impactful
3. Engage in community action and mobilisation which contributes to narrative building, and increases awareness around climate change.

Constantly telling children their future is in jeopardy can be harmful, even if the message is accurate. We should showcase the beauty of the world, hoping people will protect, conserve, and sustain it

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

1. Basaveshwara was one of the earliest social reformers from Karnataka who lived in the 12th century, and spread social awareness through his poetry popularly known as 'Vachanas'. He advocated a democratic society and rejected social discrimination, superstitious beliefs and caste-based rituals. A residential extension in Bengaluru was named 'Basaveshwara Nagara' and an equestrian bronze statue of Basaveshwara is installed in one of the prominent traffic circles in the city in his honour. The traffic circle today known as Basaveshwara Circle, was popularly called Chalukya Circle. What was the circle earlier known as? Ringwood Circle or Shoolay Circle?
2. Swami Vivekananda, one of the most influential philosophers and social reformers in modern India visited Bengaluru in November 1892, about a year before his historic address at the World Parliament of Religions in Chicago in 1893. It was Dewan K Sheshadri Iyer who introduced Swamiji to the Maharaja of Mysore, Chamarajendra Wodeyar who in turn helped Swamiji for his travel to Chicago. Where in Bengaluru is the Vivekananda Ashram located? Basavanagudi or Ulsoor?
3. Raja Ram Mohan Roy, a prominent Indian social reformer who advocated modern education and socio-religious reforms is known for his efforts to abolish Sati and child marriage. He founded Brahmo Samaj, a reform movement in 1828. The movement was very active in Bengaluru in the 1860s and the first branch was opened in the city in 1866. A white marble bust statue of Raja Ram Mohan Roy is installed within a prominent traffic island and a road too is named after him in the city. Name the iconic stadium located near the circle. Critical Care Experts Sound Alarm on AMR at EuroAsia 2024 Summit

During EuroAsia 2024, an intercontinental gathering held recently in Bengaluru, Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR) was a key focus. AMR is a critical global problem affecting humans, the environment, and animals, ranking among the top 10 challenges faced by humanity. The event marked a significant milestone in the journey towards excellence in critical care medicine, featuring participation from leading specialists who expressed concern over AMR's increasing prevalence in India. Experts such as Dr. Bharat Jagiasi, Dr. Pradip Bhattacharya, Dr. Srinivas Samavedam, Dr. Pradeep Rangappa, Dr. Rajesh Pande, Dr. Sachin Gupta, Dr. Bhuvana Krishna, and Dr. Kartik Rao emphasized the need to strengthen the fight against AMR through a holistic 'One Health' approach.

Addressing the gathering, Dr. Bharat Jagiasi, General Secretary of ISCCM, stated, "Antibiotic resistance is causing longer hospital stays, prolonged treatment, and higher mortality rates. We must combat AMR aggressively and adopt One Health stewardship practices. Public campaigns can educate on antimicrobial use, and improving hygiene measures is essential to prevent infection spread. Antibiotic resistance has led to 'superbugs,' straining health systems and economies, increasing hospitalisations and deaths."

Prof. Dr. Pradip Bhattacharya, President of ISCCM, highlighted factors contributing to AMR: "The One Health concept emphasises the need to control antibiotic consumption. Data shows 1.2 million deaths in India are due to AMR, with an estimated 10 million by 2050. The medical fraternity must be cautious in prescribing antibiotics and adopt judicious stewardship programs. Excessive and inappropriate antibiotic use fuels resistant bacteria, complicating treatments and increasing severe outcomes and deaths. Limited public awareness hinders effective prevention measures."

Dr. Srinivas Samavedam, President-Elect of ISCCM, remarked, "Multiple stakeholders play roles in AMR control. Post-COVID-19, stewardship is crucial—using the right drug at the right time for the right bug at the right dose. Patients need 36 to 48 hours for antibiotics to be effective and should trust their treatment plans. Pharmacies must adhere to norms, ensuring antibiotics with red strips are sold by prescription only. The industry must sell high-level antibiotics to the appropriate audience, and ISCCM is at the forefront of the AMR battle."

Discussing solutions, Dr. Pradeep Rangappa, former Secretary of ISCCM, said, "India is the third-largest consumer of antibiotics. Inappropriate antibiotic use occurs 30 to 60% of the time and must be curtailed. The Indian government has created a national action plan to reduce antibiotic consumption, with guidelines on surveillance and resistance patterns. Serious measures at the pharmacy level are necessary."

Emphasiing the need for new anti-infectives, Dr. Rajesh Pande, Principal Director at BLK MAX Super Speciality Hospital, stated, "AMR needs a multidisciplinary approach. Antibiotic use must be judiciously monitored inside and outside hospitals. The prevalence of AMR is increasing, but the pipeline for new antibiotics is dry. Pharmaceutical companies must introduce newer anti-infectives to combat drug-resistant bacteria, as many pathogens have developed resistance to current treatments."

How to get into off-roading?

Off-roading is an exhilarating adventure that takes you beyond the beaten path, offering the thrill of navigating rugged terrain with specialised vehicles. It's a unique blend of skill, excitement, and a love for the great outdoors.

Understanding the sport: Off-roading is a unique activity involving trail drives and competitions. Watch competitions and join local trail drives organised by enthusiasts to see if you enjoy it.

Choosing the right vehicle: Select a 4x4 based on your specific off-roading needs. Consider the type of off-roading, travel nature, utility, and frequency of use rather than relying solely on brand reviews.

ASK AN XPERT

Reach out to the community: Connect with fellow off-roaders through forums, social media groups, or clubs. Participate in drives, events, and workshops to learn from experienced enthusiasts and share experiences.

Learn the techniques: Join off-roading clubs or take courses to learn essential skills. Practise in controlled environments before tackling more challenging terrains.

Exploring off-road trails: Research nearby off-road trails. Start with easy trails to build confidence, and then gradually progress to more difficult routes as your skills improve.

FITBIT

VIPARITA VIRABHADRASANA
(REVERSE WARRIOR POSE)

This is a beginner-level standing balancing pose that opens the sides of the torso while stretching the legs. It is practiced under the variation of the Virabhadrasana series and energises the mind and body. It is mainly practiced as part of the backbend to help strengthen the middle and lower back.

STEPS

- Start in Tadasana (Mountain Pose), with your hands kept on the waist, heels in the same line.
- Inhale, turn your left leg and foot 90 degrees to the left.
- Exhale, bend the left leg to a right angle. The knee should be in line with the ankle.
- Ensure the thigh is parallel and the shin is perpendicular to the floor. The back leg (right) remains straight.
- Inhale, extend your hands with your palms facing down in Virabhadrasana II.
- Stay here for a while, keeping the head, neck, and back in one line.
- Inhale and place your right arm on your right thigh. Exhale and extend your left hand upwards.
- Slowly exhale and bend sideways a little deeper.
- Stretch your left arm upwards and towards the right while simultaneously sliding the right arm down the right thigh.
- Drop the head back and look up in this deeper partial back-side bend, Parivrtta Virabhadrasana.
- Push the floor using the outer edge of your back foot for stability, and balance the weight equally between both feet. Stay here for about six breaths.
- Come back to Virabhadrasana II, release the pose and relax in Prasarita Tadasana Hands On Hips.
- Counter the stretch on the other side (right), and relax in Dirga Pranayama Tadasana.

BENEFITS

- Stretches hamstrings, groins, quadriceps, gluteus, chest, rib cage, abdominal area, intercostal muscles, neck, arms, psoas muscles. Strengthens knees, hips, and ankles.
- Stabilises the spine.

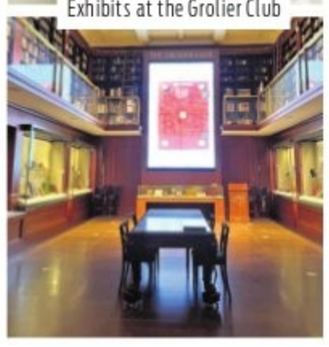
Exhibits at the Grolier Club



BEING inducted into the Grolier Club is the ultimate recognition of being a true bibliophile. You cannot simply sign up to join the club; you need to be recommended for membership and supported by three other members. The final step is an interview with the board members. Eventually, what matters is the strength of your bibliophilic activity!

The Grolier Club was one of many American organisations founded in the years of prosperity and optimism: museums and libraries, professional and patriotic societies, and fraternal and ethnic lodges. Reflecting the reformist spirit of the era, nine business and cultural leaders of New York City, who were collectors of books and prints, gathered on January 24, 1884 to start a club for the encouragement of 'literary study and the arts of the book'. Their group was named after 'The Prince of Bibliophiles' Jean Grolier (1489/90 to 1565), the leading bibliophile of the Renaissance and a royal treasurer under four French kings.

When Nick Basbanes asked me whether I would be interested in joining the club of around 820 active members (and a total of around 3,000 since its founding), I was not sure whether I was worthy of being in the company of some of the bibliophilic legends such as J Pierpont Morgan (American financier and banker), William Henry Huntington (American railroad magnate), and Henry Clay Forger (Founder of Folger Shakespeare Library).

Once I became a member, I could hardly wait to visit the Club on 47 East 60th Street in New York (between Park and Madison Avenues, in Manhattan's affluent Upper East Side). I went there on February 26, 2024, as excited as a kid in a candy store. The four-storeyed building, completed in 1917, is an architectural gem and stands as a testament to the Beaux-Arts style characterised by grandiosity, classical elements, and meticulous attention to detail.

A stunning interior greets entrants to the building. The main hall boasts high ceilings, polished marble floors, and rich wood panelling. The walls are lined with bookcases filled with rare and valuable volumes that showcase the club's extensive collection. On the day of my visit, I was able to view an exhibition of 'Judging a Book by its Cover: Bookbindings from the Collections of The Grolier Club, 1470s – 2020'. It was a stunning exhibition of eight cabinets of books, carefully categorised by era, showing the gradual evolution of bookbinding. The book Judging a Book By its Cover: Bookbindings from the Collection of Grolier Club by H George Fletcher is a gorgeous catalogue of the exhibition. The library on the second floor has around 1,00,000 books open to the community of scholars and bibliophiles (by appointment).

The club allows new members to exhibit three books from their collection at the annual New Members Collect exhibition which is open to the public from May 30 to July 27 this year. It was a proud moment for me to share Gandhi's signed Mahatma Gandhi's Ideas, Don Bradman's signed Farewell to Cricket and Tagore's signed The Golden Book of Tagore.

The Grolier Club on 47 East 60th Street in New York

To have survived almost 140 years, especially in the age of rapid digitisation is a testimony to the commitment of its members and their genuine bibliophilia. At a time when print books and bookstores are on the decline, the goal now is to recruit newer, younger and diverse members.

The Grolier Club has been the mainstay of book-collecting in the US, giving structure and direction to a movement that values books not only as vessels of knowledge but also as physical objects. It has been remarkably successful in achieving its mission: to nurture an enthusiasm for books and the book arts in the face of increasingly pervasive 'information technologies', and to offer to the general public the discoveries and treasures brought to light by the serious business of collecting. I am grateful to have been a speck in the spangled history of the Grolier Club!

The daily life of an internet troll

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon

(Writer, comedian)

IF you're an artiste, or a creator; if you have a talent for singing or dancing; if you have any dream in the world – you fear them. You see the trolls in your nightmares; the biggest threats to modern sanity. As a comedian/film reviewer/podcaster – my entire life depends upon putting myself out there for public scrutiny. I like to believe I'm as stoic as Marcus 'Daru-lius', but it gets nerve-wracking on some days. Which is why I love writing this newspaper column. The biggest advantage is that nobody is going to troll me. Like you, dear reader. If you don't like this column, you'll simply move on to the news of Katrina Kaif's puppy getting its own passport. A newspaper column has no space for comments or trolls.

But how did trolls become so powerful? How did they become the No.1 enemy to people's sanity? One has to go down the dark alleys of history to find the answer. I firmly believe that two incidents changed the course of Indian history. The first was in 1950 when Dr BR Ambedkar presented the shiny, new Constitution of India. The second came in 2016, when Mukesh Ambani launched free 4G internet for the entire nation. Remember how sane the world was before 2016? You could put out your work, and would probably receive a three-page reply from a Communist in Kolkata. Today, your every move is guarded, every word under so much scrutiny – you'd think you were an elected Member of the Parliament. I daresay in future decades, Indian schoolchildren will be asked to debate on the topic – 'Free Internet: Bane or boon?'.

I have always been fascinated by trolls. It's a diverse field of work with no boring days. You can troll Elon Musk and Narendra Modi on the same day. You can stretch your portfolio from trolling an actor, to a Nobel Laureate. It's free of cost, and the dopamine hits you get from people liking your comment is more valuable than any magical medicine that Baba Ramdev can conjure up. For the academically inclined, you could dig up a tweet from 2015 to prove your point. The amount of cross-referencing used in trolling would make a Supreme Court judge blush. For the technologically-inclined, you can morph images, using bad AI tools from Samosa ChatGPT. It's a world with endless opportunities. While we wake up with an intention to live out the best possible day, a troll wakes up and posts a hate comment. They then go to work or college, and post another comment during the lunch break. 6pm is peak time for content creators, and the troll is presented with a plethora of options. Drop in a homophobic comment, or spew religious hatred.

The argument of freedom of expression usually comes up here. And even if India has slipped to 159 out of 180 countries in the Press Freedom Index, I am a believer in democratic traditions. My plan is to play the waiting game. I plan to wait till Zuckerberg begins charging ₹5 for posting a comment on Instagram. And ₹27 (+GST) for sharing a post. Only Mark Zuckerberg can undo the damage caused by Mukesh Ambani. In this capitalist dystopia, true peace will reign when one billionaire one-ups another. Of course, it might be terrible for content creators. It will mean less engagement, but more contentment! Loka samastha Instagramo Bhavantu!

Author interaction session on June 30

The famous Kola performances of Tulu Nadu involve dancers who invite powerful, sacred spirits to possess them. Through the performers, and surrounded by vibrant colours and striking visuals, these spirits — known as daiva – may settle disputes, provide guidance, grant blessings and pass judgement. However, there is so much more to it than art and devotion. In Daiva, author K Hari Kumar brings you stories of powerful immortals. Join an interactive session with the author on June 30, 7.30pm, at Atta Galatta, Indiranagar. For more details, call 9632510126.

Not Out locks release date

The film, directed by Ambarisha, and starring Ajay Prithvi and Rachana Inder to be out on July 19

CE FEATURES

AJAY Prithvi, who made his debut with Purushothamana Prasanga in March 2024, received favourable reviews for his acting skills. Now, he is gearing up for the release of his second film, titled Not Out set to hit the theatres on July 19. Directed by Ambarisha, the film has Ajay Prithvi portraying an ambulance driver, while Rachna Inder takes on the role of a nurse. Billed as a dark comedy, the film also features Ravi Shankar in a prominent role.

Ahead of its release, the makers have planned to unveil a song, on June 27 followed by a trailer launch on July 4

As told by the director in his previous interview with CE, the concept of Not Out is inspired by the tiger-sheep game, a popular village pastime along the Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, and Andhra Pradesh borders, with a tagline that translates to 'A judgment from an invisible umpire'.

Produced by V Ravikumar and Shamshuddin under the Rashtrakuta Pictures banner, Not Out features music by Judah Sandy and cinematography by Halesh. The ensemble cast includes Gopalkrishna Deshpande, Salman, Govindegowda, and Prashant Siddi in pivotal roles.

Rajeev Rathod's The Present, is a family-centric film with spirits

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Shivapurna's film The Present departs from traditional horror themes to focus on family-centric storytelling involving spirits. The film unfolds in three parts, with the storyline encompassing the past, present, and future. The film, which recently began production, stars Rajeev Rathod in the lead role, supported by Dia and Manasa Gowda as the female leads. "We're presenting a multilingual family drama designed for a pan-India release in five languages. Around 90 per cent of the shooting will take place in Bengaluru, with musical sequences planned in Kerala," explains Shivapurna.

Team The Present

Rajeev Rathod

Despite challenges during its three-year development, Shivapurna, who is directing and producing the film, remains committed. Popular Telugu actor Vennela Kishore joins the cast in a significant role. The team aims to complete filming in 45 days and plans for a Christmas release. Rajeev Rathod describes his character as a one-sided lover, emphasising that while The Present incorporates supernatural elements, it's not a horror film but rather a family drama. He promises a blend of traditional and contemporary storytelling that offers a refreshing take on the genre.

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

Film: Black Dog

NAMRATA JOSHI

THE kinetic opening sequence sets the tone for Guan Hu's Black Dog. A bus is traversing a vast, arid vista till a mob of canines appear suddenly out of nowhere, swarms around and topples the vehicle. The setting couldn't have been more evident and self-explanatory—it's a world where human's best friends appear to have taken over the humans themselves. There's more of the dogs—Guan Hu puts one in every scene and frame of the film. In the hands of a lesser director, it may have ended up seeming like a gimmick but here, it adds potently to the visual dimension of the essential human-canine interface.

Set on the outskirts of China's Gobi Desert, the film is about a former stunt motorcyclist and local celebrity Lang (Eddie Pang), who returns to his hometown after serving a prison sentence. He joins Uncle Yao's (Jia Zhangke) local patrol programme to round up and remove stray dogs, in preparation for the 2008 Beijing Olympics. While Lang must start life anew with this new job to keep him afloat, the local gangster wants to avenge his nephew's death, which he blames Lang for. Meanwhile, in his effort to hunt down a thin black rabies-affected dog, Lang ends up striking an unusual bond with him.

The film won the Un Certain Regard prize at the Cannes Film Festival where it premiered in May this year. The dog Xin, who plays the titular character, won the Grand Just prize at the independent Palm Dog awards. At its very basic, Black Dog feels like a journey into the Chinese Wild Wild West, an oddball one at that, with the tussle of two gangs of men at its core and the one between humans and dogs towering over it. It's a fabulously shot film that derives meaning from the space it is set in. The landscape mirrors Lang's fevered mind, there's a seething, unexpressed rage and the minimalistic camera manages to capture it effectively, be it on the human face or incipient in nature.

Not just the place, Guan Hu's evocation of its people and the community is just as effective, particularly in the light of the socio-economic context. It's about how the ideas of development, progress and modernisation, meant to alleviate our lives, can come at a human cost. There's a recklessness and disregard for the disempowered that lies at the core of the idea of development. It's about the abandonment of vast swathes of humanity, ensuring that the goodies pass them by rather than improve their lot. Who is a stray here then? Dogs or humans? Dogs might have taken over human habitation but it's one where human beings themselves have been turned into strays.

There are individual metaphors at play as well. Lang is a human outcast finding companionship, solidarity, catharsis and atonement in a thin black street dog. A hell of a moving, even though foreseeable story. What's more, both seem like two sides of the same coin, personifying a mix of aggression and vulnerability. Eddie Pang makes his own silence do all the talking. He is intense and tellingly inscrutable as Lang and couples it wonderfully with his interactions with the dog Xin. Both are a perfect match, made for each other. The presence of iconic director Jia Zhangke is like the proverbial icing on the cake. The film does tend to sag a bit towards the end, could have been more crisp and less sappy and melodramatic. But Guan Hu largely tells it with great control and deftness. Black Dog is riveting in its own unique idiosyncratic way.
